City Fathers Happy About This Monster

KINGSTON

It isn't often that city fathers will agree to anything experimental on repair of city streets, particularly thoroughfares such as Broadway.

And when Public Works Superintendent Charles J. Cole suggested peeling Broadway from Stuyvesant Street to O'Reilly Street rather than paving it to correct a chronic "washboard effect" the reaction was pretty much "sorry, Charlie." A $75,000 price tag didn't help.

But Cole persisted and the city fathers relented and the experiment got underway. The results so far?

"We've seen it and we're very happy with the end results," says Cole, who, quickly noting that the final results aren't in yet, qualifies that with "we still consider it a pilot program. We'll have to analyze it, compare its cost with standard paving, consider the utilization of salvage material and then give it to the city fathers. So far, I can say we're pleased with the operation but we can't make any recommendations until its completed."

The "it" Cole refers to also is referred to as "the monster that ate Broadway." It is 50 feet long, weighs 43,000 pounds and is eight feet wide. The theory is simple: 300 degrees of heat combined with the machine's almost 22 tons of weight, heat the pavement to the melting point where it can be scraped off and used elsewhere. Simply put, it is the opposite of paving.

On the surface, the process would appear to be expensive. Jim Jackson of New England Inc. was the only bidder at $50,904 and Cole is figuring another $25,000 or so for additional work by his own crews.

A good deal of preparation was necessary before "the monster" started gobbling up Broadway, beginning at East Chester Street. Cole's crews had to lower all the manhole covers two inches before the road grader arrived and Central Hudson workers had to take similar precautions.

At this point, however, Cole's attention is directed toward the machine's recycling capabilities. "Frankly, we didn't expect the quality of material (some of it 40 years old) that we got," Cole said. "In that sense, it was a bonus."

Cole says the machine produces between 75 and 90 cubic yards of reusable material a day. Cole first used it to pave a road leading into the Kingston Point landfill. "We were very, very satisfied," he said. "It goes down very similar to new plant mix material. It hasn't got the life of new material but it's a very fine material for base coursing. It's a vast improvement over surface treated asphalt (patching) and is better than a plain gravel bed."

BPW crews also used the Broadway material for paving the parking lot at Kingston Point Beach and plan to use more of it for paving roads in Upper Hasbrouck Park.

Will there be any left to pave Broadway? Cole was asked.

"We're hopeful that we won't have to pave it," Cole said. On the last pass of the machine we are going to put a tandem roller behind it in hopes that we can reseal some of the poorer surfaces that are going to be left when they get down to the course aggregate.

"If we find that the surface leaves much to be desired in point of porosity (porous effect) than I would recommend we consider overlay," Cole says.

The machine also will be working off Broadway on East Chester Street from Hemlock Avenue to Broadway and on Albany Avenue from the railroad underpass to Manor Avenue. Work will be completed by Sept. 1.

If nothing else, the machine will have succeeded in smoothing out some of the city's bumpiest streets. The jury is still out on whether its cost justified its use.

Rocky's Approval Seen 'Relatively Easy'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The ranking Republican on the House Judiciary Committee, said today confirmation of Nelson A. Rockefeller as vice president should take no more than eight weeks —the same time it took to approve Gerald Ford for the job last year.

Rep. Edward Hutchinson, a Michigan conservative, said he believes the confirmation process should be "relatively easy," despite questions raised about Rockefeller's enormous wealth.

"Admittedly he is a man of great personal wealth, but very clearly none of it was ever gained in public office," Hutchinson said.

"I would say since it took eight weeks to confirm Jerry Ford as vice president that if it takes longer than eight weeks to confirm Nelson Rockefeller, someone is going to be guilty of foot-dragging."

Under provisions of the 25th Amendment, Rockefeller must be confirmed by both the House and Senate. The House Judiciary Committee and the Senate Rules Committee, chaired by Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., will conduct the confirmation hearings.

Hutchinson and Rep. Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J., the judiciary chairman, were interviewed jointly on the NBC Today Show.

Rodino today refused to set a timetable for his panel's hearings.

"I'm not going to set any time," he said. "It is too important, too serious, too grave.

"We are considering the confirmation of a vice president who again has been designated by a president who himself has become President of the United States without being elected by the people. I think we've got to move carefully, deliberately and as speedily as possible."

Meanwhile, with the widely hailed selection of millionaire Nelson A. Rockefeller as his vice-presidential nominee, President Ford moves today to improve relations with the black caucus and sign stiff antibusing legislation.

Ford's nomination of Rockefeller, former New York governor and life-long Republican, appeared to be one more gesture in a series to win the support of the moderates in his party as he follows his stated plan to bind up the nation's wounds and apparently prepares to run for the presidency in 1976.

Rockefeller, who made three unsuccessful bids for president on the Republican ticket himself, told reporters that he gained the impression that Ford "has every intention" of running for a full four-year term after he fulfills the remainder of former President Nixon's term.

Rockefeller said that Ford "talked about himself" but not what he wants to do regarding a running mate in 1976.

White House news secretary J.F. terHorst told reporters he could give them "no gudiance" on Ford's future political plans.

But Ford's nomination of Rockefeller won praise from top Democrats and Republicans, although it disappointed some conservatives. Nevertheless, Ford and some Congressional leaders predicted quick confirmation of Rockefeller as the nation's 41st vice-president. But fairly prolonged hearings will be conducted into the nominee's political past and there will be a complete financial probe of Rockefeller, one of the world's richest men.

"I think he will make a great teammate," Ford told reporters after announcing his selection on nationwide television Tuesday. "I think he will be good for the country, I think he will be good for the world, and I am looking forward to working with him."

Presidential counselor Robert Hartmann said Ford was guided most in his choice of Rockefeller because he wanted "a man who could step into the presidency if necessary."

The President, known as a compromiser and a conciliator on Capitol Hill, was hurt when every member of the black caucus opposed his nomination as vice president last fall.

Today he will be able to mend fences with the 16-member group of black House members headed by Rep. Charles B. Rangel, D.-N.Y., and to discuss his views on civil rights legislation. Ford's legislative record shows that he opposed most civil rights bills in debate but wound up voting for them.

Local Politicos Divided

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

Nelson Rockefeller was in every sense of the word, a strong governor, a man whose policies and performance in office elicited strong, often controversial response.

A brief sampling of Ulster County's political leaders on President Ford's nomination of Rockefeller as vice president indicates the former governor hasn't been forgotten.

Most political leaders did seem surprised. Mayor Francis R. Koenig of Kingston going as far as "deep surprise."

Koenig, like most other Americans, played the "vice presidential guessing game" as President Ford deliberated on his choice for number two. "I watched him on television the night before where he spoke to the vets and I got the indication he was leaning away from the governor," Koenig told the Freeman. "I was deeply surprised by his decision."

Ulster County Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago, on the other hand, wasn't surprised at all. "I felt he was the best and most logical candidate," Savago said.

Fellow Republican State Senator Edwyn E. Mason of Hobart, a frequent Rockefeller critic, stayed true to form. "It is for the nation a most unfortunate decision by Mr. Ford and one that does not inspire much confidence in the President's judgment," Mason told the Freeman.

Special

Mason told Ford much the same thing in a telegram mailed on Monday night. In that telegram, he and Schenectady Assemblyman Clark Wemple cited Ford for his qualities of "economy frugality and efficiency in government at all levels."

"We feel that the former governor of New York State Nelson A. Rockefeller has not displayed these qualities of concern for the taxpayer in any tangible respect," they wrote.

Charging that the taxpayers of New York were burdened with the highest taxes in the nation, Mason and Wemple wrote, "We would not look with anticipation at even the possibility that the former governor might man the bridge of the ship of state."

Continuing along the same line once the news became official, Mason said, "Nelson Rockefeller as governor was a calamity for the people of this state."

Mason said he suspected Ford chose Rockefeller "because of his money . . . certainly the choice was not based on his ability or his record."

Savago, on the other hand, lauded Ford's decision. "I think it was an excellent choice. I think he'll do a very good job," Savago said.

"He's certainly got the background in foreign affairs. Certainly his business knowledge should be a tremendous asset to help pick up the economy."

Savago also spoke of Rockefeller's money but in a vein entirely different than Mason who was speaking of power. "Of course the other big factor is money," Savago said. "He doesn't need it. We won't have to worry about his going astray."

Savago, unlike several other leaders, wasn't surprised when Ford finally chose Rockefeller.

"Certainly there were several good persons in contention," he said. "But for the reasons I cited I thought he was the best and most logical candidate."

Congressman Hamilton Fish (R-25th District) said he wasn't surprised by Rockefeller's nomination, but said he would have no comment since that nomination would come before the House Judiciary Committee for review. Fish is a member of that committee.

Assemblyman H. Clark Bell Jr. was unavailable for comment as was State Senator Richard E. Schermerhorn who represents the city of Kingston and southern Ulster County.

'Stunning Setback' for Ellenville

By WADE BURKHART

ELLENVILLE

The Village of Ellenville has suffered a stunning court setback, which could mean grave problems for the operation of the villages' water supply system, the use by several communications corporations of the "antenna farm" of the village's at Sam's Point, and the operation of the Ice Caves Mountain tourist attraction, which has been designated as a national landmark.

In a decision dated Aug. 14, the contents of which village officials only learned Monday night, State Supreme Court Justice John H. Pennock has ruled that the Salesian Society Inc. is the winner in a boundary dispute on Sam's Point.

Included in the approximately 10 acres that the new boundary lines will give the Salesian Society Inc., the legal corporation of the Salesians of Don Bosco, a prominent Roman Catholic religious order, are a section of the pipe from Lake Maratanza to the village, the "antenna farm," and a section of the one-lane road used by Ice Caves Mountain tourists. State Police and private companies to maintain their antennas on the mountain, and the Department of Environmental Conservation to service their fire station. Lake Maratanza is Ellenville's primary water source.

The Ellenville Village Board was to meet at a hastily called 7 p.m. Tuesday session to consider the decision, and decide on the village's next step.

"I would almost say we would have to appeal it," said Dowling of the decision.

"It's a real blow to me, and to the whole board," he said.

According to Dowling, the blow was all the sharper because the village fully expected to win. "We've been told by everybody who has any connection with this, including the Palisades Interstate Park Commission, that we were in the right, and had no problems," Dowling said.

The Palisades Interstate Park Commission has been in negotiations with the village to buy its holdings in the Shawangunks for a park. Ice Caves Mountain Corp. holds about 4,000 of the village's acres on a 50-year lease, and had entered into the litigations alongside the village.

The Salesian Society was represented by Richard T. Graham, Henry E. Otto, and Samuel C. Otto, all of Manhattan, with Patrick J. Boyle of Goshen as trial counsel.

Samuel C. Otto told the Freeman Tuesday that the Salesians had no plans for their new property "at this time", and that what they did with the property "would develop."

Former Village Attorney Albert I. Lonstein represented the village, which was in court in September and October of 1973. The initial court action had begun Oct. 24, 1967.

Joseph Friedman, of the Ellenville firm of Berger and Solomon, represented Ice Caves Mountain.

The other defendants in the case were American Telephone and Telegraph, New York Communications Co., Inc., Mountain Electronics Co. Inc., Cable Corp., and New York Penn Microwave Corp.

The AT&T installation is a microwave relay station, and reportedly an important part of AT&T's communications network.

The ramifications of Pennock's decision are not yet clear. Dowling said things could go as far as the Salesians demanding the rent the village has received in past years from its antenna farm tenants. That amounted to $1,300 last year.

Hurting Ice Caves Mountain could also hurt village revenues. Ice Caves Mountain pays 10 per cent of its ticket receipts to the village as rent, and that came to $8,245.57 last year.

The effects of the decision on any sale of the village's holdings to the park commission is also unclear. The price tag on the land is well into seven figures.

Damage suits from tenants who have installed equipment on land they rented from the village, and the village never owned according to Pennock, could also be in the offing if the decision stands.

"Everybody connected with this said we were right," said Dowling ruefully. "The only one who didn't believe we were right was the judge."

Wanted in New Jersey, Florida

Fugitive: Janitor or Deputy?

By MATT SPIRENG

KINGSTON

A man twice arrested during June in Ulster County as a fugitive from justice in two other eastern seaboard states has been hired on the staff of the Ulster County Jail, the Freeman has learned.

Available payroll records of the Ulster County Jail show that the man, still wanted in New Jersey and Florida according to authorities, became a part-time deputy sheriff during the last week of July — apparently while he was free from the Ulster County Jail on bail.

Sheriff William B. Martin confirmed that the man has been hired, but denied that he was hired as a deputy sheriff. "He is not a deputy sheriff in any sense of the word. He can't be," Martin said, adding that the payroll record entry which shows the man is a part-time deputy sheriff "was an error."

"He was hired as a janitor," Martin said.

The man is wanted by Sussex County, N. J., authorities on five counts of fraud and possession of stolen credit cards, and is under indictment in that county on those charges. He is wanted by Dade County, Fla., authorities for violation of probation subsequent to a conviction for unlawful use of credit cards.

Some conflicting views on Sheriff Martin. Stories on page 5.

He was hired at the Ulster County Jail during the payroll period of July 26 to Aug. 3. The payroll record states he is a part-time deputy sheriff, and worked eight hours during that payroll period. The payroll record is certified to, by Sheriff William B. Martin, as correct, and his signature is placed thereon.

Martin said Monday he was unaware of the "error" which he said must have been made by one of his employes. "He is not a deputy sheriff," Martin said. He confirmed that the man is still employed at the jail.

At the time the man was hired, he was free on $250 bail from the Ulster County Jail, according to records at the Ulster County treasurer's office. The bail had not been redeemed as of Aug. 16, according to the treasurer's office, indicating that the man is still out of jail under bail.

The bail was posted July 15, according to the treasurer's office, which indicates that the man was in the Ulster County Jail for at least one month as an inmate.

He was first arrested June 6 as a fugitive from justice from New Jersey, and was charged June 10 as a fugitive from justice from Florida.

According to reliable sources, the man hired on the jail staff is currently fighting extradition from New York State by the two states where he is wanted.

"No one is hired in here as a deputy with a criminal record that is unresolved," Sheriff Martin said.

The wanted man does, however, have access to the jail itself, where he does some cleaning work, Martin said.

Asked if the man is guarded while cleaning in the jail, Martin said, "There are always guards in the jail."

The special bipartisan committee of the Ulster County Legislature, which released a lengthy report on the Ulster County Sheriff's Department earlier this month after five months of investigation, was critical of hiring practices.

That report charged that there is little or no screening of personnel and that in some instances "deputies with criminal records have been hired."

The committee did not know of the hiring of the man wanted in two states when its report was prepared, acording to reliable sources.

Esopus Meeting on Police Nets Results

By TIM SCHUSTER

PORT EWEN

More than 100 Town of Esopus residents vented their emotions concerning police protection or the lack of it to town officials Tuesday night in a three-hour session that ranged from mild opinions to shouting matches.

It was billed as an open meeting to give the residents a chance to ask questions and give suggestions on the "breakdown of justice" in the town, according to Supervisor George Freer.

Two ideas in primitive form emerged from the discussion, and the three-man police commission will review both for possible merit. They were: form an auxiliary police force to stretch the town's budget dollar while employing volunteer help, and in the other direction to formulate a full-time professional police force for the town.

Much of the controversy centered around the reported actions of a group of about a dozen youthful offenders whom everyone on the board and police commission claimed to be acquainted with, but whose status as youngsters in accordance with state law was decried by many.

Freer prefaced his remarks by noting that the board has brought the town police department "quite a ways in the past six or seven years," from three non-uniformed officers to eight part-time uniformed officers and the third patrol car on its way. The police budget has been increased by 300 per cent in that time, he said, but is still less than $10,000 per year for the entire force. Officers are paid $2.50 per hour.

Commissioner Carl Cline came out as a strong proponent of a professional, full-time police force as the only effective crime deterrent. "If I had my way, I would hire five regular full-time policemen," he asserted.

Freer, corroborated statements by both town justices that the predominance of burglary and related crimes in the town were being committed by the younger element, with justices stating they figured that youngsters were responsible for more than 80 per cent of reported crime.

Some of the "crime" referred to involved such cases as the arrest of boys for playing basketball in the town park after 10 p.m. When one such boy was brought into the hall by police during the discussion, emotional outbursts from several teenagers in the rear of the hall emphasized the differences in expectations of what good law enforcement is among the several factions represented.

Town Justice Robert Jordan said that the last 10 p.m. curfew violator brought before him paid a $50 fine. "But these kids are fast . . . They have nerve and they know the law," he said.

Jordan said that the "problems" lie in County Court and Family Court. "I feel like I'm banging my head against the wall," he said. And he stated the older youths were influencing younger ones to commit crimes to take advantage of the youthful offender status, adding, "These punks are smart."

His advice to homeowners was, "If you find somebody in your home, use any force necessary to keep him there. You can bet I would."

With emotions running high at times, one resident exclaimed about the prevalence of young "criminals." "I'll do anything I can to help law enforcement agencies, as well as shoot them."

Councilman Thomas Johnson warned against "vigilante" committees and said, "If any constables are not doing their job, we want to hear about it . . . They're not in uniform for a costume ball."

Some residents complained that they could not learn of the arrests through traditional news sources. One remark from a Mrs. Jankowski was, "I want to know why I have to get my information through the grapevine, and can't read it in the newspaper."

It was explained that YO status protects the confidentiality of the youngster until the age of 16, or until the age of 19 if he or she has no record of previous convictions.

Commissioners Cline and Frank Weist complained that cooperation from the public was not forthcoming, stating that 90 per cent of those who complain will not sign complaint forms.

Rick Robinson, a resident, suggested that the town become involved in some kind of youth center to forestall hainging out in the streets, and one 15-year-old girl protested the "basketball law" as "ridiculous."

The upshot of the lengthy discussion was a promise by Freer that two meetings will be set up shortly: one to have youth meet with members of the Recreation Commission to probe activity ideas; and the other to have the police commission present its recommendations to the board and involve more citizen input on crime matters.

And both ideas of augmenting and or strenthening the police force by the implenentation of auxiliary members or through bolstering the budget to afford full-time protection will be studied, he said.

Town officials urged public attendance at the Town of Ulster meeting tonight at Chambers Elementary School on the same topic, law enforcement.

DAVIES' BODY LEAVING NICOSIA (UPI Telephoto)

New Envoy in Nicosia Embassy

By United Press International

American diplomat L. Dean Brown moved into the bullet-scarred Nicosia office of slain U.S. Ambassador Rodger P. Davies today and took up the job of keeping the United States out of the warfare on Cyprus.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger rejected the role of "the world's policeman" for America and said the United States would not intervene militarily on Cyprus.

"We will not yield to pressure but we will always listen to reason," Kissinger told an American Legion convention Tuesday night in Miami Beach. "Our attitude will be that we cannot be the world's policeman."

Brown, a 54-year-old career diplomat, arrived in Nicosia Tuesday to take over Davies' post temporarily while Kissinger picks a permanent successor.

The acting ambassador exchanged a desk job in Washington for one of America's toughest overseas positions two days after a gunman shot his predecessor to death during an anti-U.S. demonstration at the embassy.

UPI correspondent John Lawton reported the situation on the island generally calm Tuesday despite firing across the U.N. "green line" separating the Greek and Turkish Cypriot communities in Nicosia.

Cypriots of Greek origin outnumber residents of Turkish background 4-1 on the former British colony of 700,000 persons in the eastern Mediterranean.

A U.N. spokesman in Nicosia said a Turkish sniper killed a member of the Greek-led Cypriot national guard Tuesday in a capital suburb.

The island's Greeks accused the Turkish troops of also firing a salvo of eight anti-tank missiles and a burst of machine gun fire in two other suburban incidents.

Newsmen visiting the front lines said Turkish tanks and infantry have yet to move out of assault positions within striking distance of the Limassol highway, the only road still open between the capital and the sea.

The Turkish force advanced to within three miles of the strategic road two days ago but has yet to strike against Nicosia's lifeline to the southwestern port of Limassol.

In Ankara, Turkey accused the island's Greek majority of massacring 57 Cypriots of Turkish origin during the fighting in a village near the eastern port of Famagusta.

Premier Bulent Ecevit threatened unilateral Turkish intervention to prevent atrocities if the United Nations and the island's Greek leaders fail to act.

VFW: Resounding Opposition

CHICAGO (UPI) — Delegates to the national Veterans of Foreign Wars' convention have answered President Ford's proposal of amnesty for Vietnam draft evaders with resounding opposition.

The convention's more than 4,000 delegates voted unanimously Tuesday to adopt two resolutions reaffirming the 1.8 million-member organization's stand against any sort of amnesty for draft resisters.

"This is our answer to President Ford's feeler," said James Van Zant, a former Republican congressman from Pennsylvania and a past VFW commander.

Not one delegate stood to speak for Ford's suggestion that young men who chose to become expatriates rather than fight in Vietnam be allowed to return to work their ways back to their homeland.

"We sustain total opposition to general and selective amnesty for draft dodgers and military deserters and (believe) that they should be required to stand trial for their crimes and shall pay such penalties upon conviction as laws prescribe," one of the resolutions stated.

The other said the VFW would continue "total commitment to pursue their 'no amnesty' doctrine through our membership to congressmen and to the American people and to be firm in our stand and not to relinquish, dilute or compromise their position."

The discussion on the floor of the convention was considerable, but one-sided.

Some delegates pointed out that claims that President Lincoln had granted general amnesty after the Civil War were misleading.

They argued that Lincoln had, instead, pardoned deserters who had returned to face trial, serve appropriate sentences and make up the military service time they had evaded.

The stage for the resounding opposition to Ford's amnesty proposal was set Monday by National VFW Commander Ray Soden, who, just hours after Ford's speech, said the President and the VFW may find themselves "at odds" on the amnesty issue.

Before Tuesday's vote, delegates heard Richard L. Roudebush, nominated by Ford to head the Veterans' Administration, urge them to join the President in efforts to "restore faith in America's institutions" and pledge to work to make the VA responsive to all veterans.

Rocky Says Ford to Run in 1976

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford has every intention of running in 1976 — an ill omen for Democrats and those Republicans who nurture presidential ambitions of their own.

Ford revealed his plans to Nelson A. Rockefeller when he offered the former New York governor the vice presidency.

"He has every intention of it," said Rockefeller when asked if Ford told him he would run in 1976. "That was my impression, and that's what I urged."

The decision, generally anticipated by politicians in both parties, adds a burden for the Democrats that would not have existed if President Nixon had survived his second term — running against an incumbent President.

The last time voters ousted a president was Herbert Hoover in 1932 and that was in the middle of the depression.

There are also a number of Republicans who had embryonic missions to test their chances of winning the 1976 nomination.

In this group were California Gov. Ronald Reagan and Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois. Others who had been mentioned were Tennessee senators William Brock and Howard H. Baker, former attorney general Elliot Richardson, and, before Nixon resigned, both Ford and Rockefeller.

With Ford running, all those plans will have to be put, in the words of Percy, on the "back burner" and in the "deep freeze."

Rockefeller also revealed that he has no commitment of any kind from Ford that the former governor will be on the ticket in 1976. "What he wants to do in regards to a running mate is up to him," Rockefeller said. Ford "talked about himself but not about me."

So far the only Republican of any prominence to suggest that Ford might drop Rockefeller after two years is Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, dean of the conservative wing.

Most other conservatives, most of whom called Rockefeller a good choice, shied away from speculating about a vice-presidential candidate in 1976.

No Decision Yet on His Wealth

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Multi-millionaire Nelson A. Rockefeller has told Congressional leaders he is willling to put his extensive financial holdings into a blind trust, assuming Congress confirms him as Gerald Ford's vice president.

The former New York governor said he would answer fully during confirmation hearings any questions about his financial situation and was prepared to give Senate and House committees his income tax returns and a complete financial report.

When a reporter asked him Tuesday how much he is worth, Rockefeller replied in a somewhat apologetic tone: "You're not a member of the Congress."

On the question of what he planned to do with his personal fortune while serving as vice president, he said: "I haven't had a chance to think much about it. This all came rather suddenly, but I'll do whatever the law says. I expect that means a trust." A blind trust would not permit Rockefeller to manipulate the funds while in office with an independent executor established.

Later after meeeting with Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-New., chairman of the rules committee, Rockefeller said, "I'll do anything that seems correct from the committees' point of view" regarding his financial holdings.

"I'll tell the appropriate committees in Congress whatever they require," Rockefeller said.

Cannon said the committee would require Rockefeller's tax returns and a full financial record. The governor said he would comply.

A member of one of America's wealthiest families, Rockefeller did little to divulge his personal holdings during his 15 years as governor of New York.

At the time it was disclosed that California Gov. Ronald Reagan had paid minimal income taxes, Rockefeller's office said in response to questions about his tax situation: "The only statement we will make is that while he has been governor, his income taxes have been in seven figures."

Nixon's Homes Due for Scrutiny

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is going to re-examine all publicly financed items installed in Richard M. Nixon's Florida and California homes with an eye to recovering what it profitably can, according to the head of the General Services Administration.

Arthur F. Sampson said his agency will "look at every item" installed while Nixon was President, and then decide what should be done with them now.

From Nixon's 1968 election until mid-1973, the government put $1,156,075 worth of equipment and capital improvements into Nixon's homes at San Clemente, Calif., and Key Biscayne, Fla. Other, larger sums were spent on adjacent offices and administrative facilities.

Sampson said on Tuesday the examination will be to "determine what is in the best interest of the federal government."

He said it wouldn't be in the government's interest to dig up $3,000 worth of wiring if the salvage value was only a few dollars. But other items no longer needed and easily removed could be reclaimed.

The GSA was heavily criticized when details of its spending at Nixon sites emerged through news reporting and congressional hearings during 1973. The government claimed most of the expenditures were required for security protection.

Sampson said he is considering what to do at Key Biscayne if Nixon sells either or both of his homes there. As President, Nixon used one house for a vacation residence and the second for an office. The government leased two others in the compound for administrative and security offices.

Learn the FACTS about Electric Heat

The FACTS are simple:—

1. Electric utility rates have risen sharply and no one likes it!
2. What caused this rate hike? The recent dramatic rise in the price of oils which the utility uses to fuel its generator.

The options for home heating are limited:

1. Gas and oil — the high-priced (and going higher) culprits of our current fuel crises.
2. Electricity — which will soon be generated by coal and nuclear power at a fraction of its present cost.

Federal Pacific Electric is STILL the best way to heat! Mr. Contractor—Come see our 3 factory representatives. They want to talk to YOU about electric heat—

Ellenville, Lloyd Grants Are Announced

ALBANY — Four grants totaling $45,761.65 for pure waters operation and maintenance in the Village of Ellenville and Town of Lloyd were announced today by Gov. Malcolm Wilson.

The Village of Ellenville will receive two grants of $17,736.33 and $16,632.90 and the Town of Lloyd will receive two, one for $4,721.53 and the other for $6,670.

The state makes annual grants of a municipal fiscal year basis of one-third the direct cost of operating and maintaining municipal wastewater treatment plants that conform to state standards and requirements, Gov. Wilson said.

"New York State has helped municipalities build hundreds of new and expanded facilities, but it is essential to bear in mind that the public goal of clean waters can be reached only if those plants are properly operated. We are protecting our huge investment in water pollution control by encouraging the highest standards of plant operation and maintenance," Wilson concluded.

Heart Reports Screening Dates

KINGSTON — Mrs. William D. Brinnier, III, executive director of the Mid-Hudson Heart Association, has announced the fall schedule for the new free coronary risk factor screening to be offered to the residents of Columbia, Greene and Ulster Counties.

Priority groups hoped to be reached are those who do not have sufficient medical help immediately available in their area, working men and women who cannot take time off for physical exams, and those with insufficient income to provide regular medical check-ups, she said.

"Our target area is particularly 35 to 65 year old males, where the highest incidence of heart attack and stroke occurs, but anyone over 18 who thinks he or she is a serious coronary risk may register," Mrs. Brinnier said.

This new program to detect potential coronary victims is being offered by the Heart Association with the assistance of IBM, Kingston. Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb Jr., IBM managing physician, notes that IBM will provide laboratory services by processing blood serum specimens at its medical Data Center in White Plains, and sponsor several nurses from the IBM Medical Department to help conduct the screening. They have also assigned Paul Berish as general coordinator and have agreed to match Heart Fund contributions expended for the program.

Tests will be made regarding height, weight, blood pressure, EKG, cholesterol and triglyceride levels, blood sugar and uric acid. A complete family history will be taken, an on-site professional counseling, and an intensive follow-up of those found to be outside of normal limits in any area tested are all included in the program.

The schedule for this fall is as follows:

Ellenville: Sept. 9 and 10, Schrade Cutlery Corp., for employees only.

Rondout area (Kingston): Sept. 23 and 24, at the Rondout Recreation Center.

Hudson: Oct. 3 and 4, at the First Reformed Church.

Tannersville: Oct. 7 and 8, at Marian Center.

Mrs. Brinnier urged residents in these areas to watch their local newspapers for specific times and additional details. Registrations will be limited, and must be made at least two days before screening, on a first-come, first-served basis.

This new free community service is made possible by contributions to the Heart Fund.

Twin Oaks Organize

SHOKAN — Familes living in the Twin Oaks Trailer Park on Route 28 in Shokan have organized the Twin Oaks Tenants Association.

Meeting recently at the home of Harry Rose, they agreed to seek legal assitance in their effort to obtain an adequate supply of water.

A spokesman for the group said that the one well provided originally for six families now services 20 families.

"In the past six months well pressure has decreased," the spokesman said. "The water, with heavy brown sediment, is not acceptable for drinking or laundry purposes. It's color repels drinking and a stain is developing on all clothes washed in it."

The group said that Department of Health tests show increasing bacteria content but quality is still at a permissible level, and said that the department had recommended use of water softeners. They accused the park owner, William Downie, of refusing to listen to their complaints.

Downie has been notified to comply with the Town of Olive trailer ordinance by Aug. 31 or face a civil suit under the Olive Interim Zoning Law, the spokesman said.

OPUS 40 Show To Help CRC

KINGSTON — "Children for children" is the theme of this year's OPUS 40 for the benefit of the Children's Rehabilitation Center of United Cerebral Palsy of Ulster and Greene Counties, member of the United Way of Ulster County.

Children of the Ulster Youth Theater will entertain from 1 to 5 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 1 at OPUS 40 in High Woods. There will be performances at different sites on the magnificent ramps and platforms created by Harvey Fite. These flowing structures, capped by a soaring monolith were constructed from discarded bluestone left from the quarries which flourished as one of the principal industries of Ulster County during the 19th and early 20th centuries.

In preparation for the event, a brother and sister, Allan and Claudia Dumas, prominent in the Youth Theater activities, visited the Children's Rehabilitation Center in Kingston in order to meet some of the handicapped children who will benefit from their performance.

One o'clock on Sept. 1, (rain day, Sept. 2) is the opening of OPUS 40 for 1974. It is the only opportunity for the public to see a great work of art, encourage budding young thespians, and help rehabilitate the handicapped children of Ulster and Greene counties.

WELCOME TO TUSCON — Gilbert E. Gray (R) of Kingston, National Commandant of the Marine Corps League, is welcomed to Tuscon, Ariz., by Mayor L. C. Murphy and Secretary of the Navy J. William Middendorf II (L), prior to the start of the Marine Corps League's 51st National Convention recently. Gray was named honorary citizen and honorary marshall of Tuscon during pre-convention ceremonies. During the convention, the League's "Iron Mike" award was presented to General Lew Walt, former Commandant of the Marine Corps, and the "Dickey Chappel" award was presented to Lady Byrd Johnson, widow of former President Johnson. More than 1,000 delegates attended the convention.

Deputy Lauds Sheriff's Record ...

KINGSTON

Stating that Sheriff William B. Martin is a man of "ability" and "integrity", Deputy Sheriff William B. Haight has called on those he terms "do gooders", to "keep their own house clean", and "mind their own business" rather than investigate inmate complaints at the jail.

"I have worked for the State Department of Correction for 29 years. I have worked with all types of inmates," Haight said. "I know how they are and act, not from someone else who knows nothing about them or who takes an inmate's word, one who could be a murderer, gunman or such."

Haight continued, "Now we the people of Ulster County have a building which we should be proud of, a modern building which is used to house and detain criminals, ones who committed crimes against society. The criminals do not appreciate it. They destroy everything they get their hands on. They tear up the sheets to make ribbons for their long hair, tear the pants legs off their pants to make shorts, set fire to the foam rubber mattresses . . ., smash toilet bowls, throw good food against the walls, smash TV cameras and lenses. Anything to be spiteful, when they can't have their own way. After all they are in jail not a hotel. They are inmates, not guests.

"These inmates have many things the public doesn't know about such as recreation three times a week, showers every day, change of bed linen once a week, change of clothing once a week, soap, towels, toilet paper, tobacco, writing paper, envelopes, stamps, visits and receive packages from home," Haight said. "They have radio music from 6:30 a.m. to 10 p.m., have clergy visits, mail. They also make phone calls which they abuse. They can call lawyers, bail bondsmen, wife, mother, etc., but they want to call common-law wives, girl friends and make long distance calls . . . They also get three good meals a day. Better than I got in World War II. These inmates do not appreciate anything you do for them. They want more and more."

"The trouble is these do gooders on the outside who have no contact with these inmates or even worked in a jail or prison don't know what it is all about. They believe a murderer or a rapist or an armed robber; they believe anything. These inmates want the phone every five minutes. I can say this, they get too much, and it is the truth. They have doctor and nurse care and medication when needed," Haight said.

"I can honestly say, thank God we have a sheriff like William B. Martin. One who knows his job, does his job and protects the people of Ulster County to the fullest of his ability. No one can question his integrity or ability. He is a hard worker, puts many more hours in than a lot of the people who talk about him and publish smut, people who (don't) know what they are talking about. These people who say he should have his phone number published are crazy. A man in his position can't. Every crank would be calling all hours with a cat on a fence, or a radio too loud. But let me tell you this, the proper people can and do get Sheriff Martin any time they need him, morning, noon or night, and he is right on the job in no time. I know for a fact he has put in 16 and 18 hours a day many times . . . He always does his job as a man, a sheriff, and a gentleman, which is more than I can say for the creeps who print the smut and who try to hurt an honest and God-believing man. May God bless and keep a good man on the job. The people of Ulster County can thank God you have William B. Martin for your Sheriff. All the above statements and remarks are true and I will swear to it under oath," the deputy concluded.

...Meanwhile, Another Viewpoint

KINGSTON

Arthur Nersesian Jr., a former investigator with the Ulster County Sheriff's Department, cautioning that area residents should "take notice of the before election availability of the current sheriff" charged that the department has developed into "an almost totally non-productive law enforcement unit."

"This sudden availability routine is a strong indication that the current incumbent realizes that the residents of Ulster County are outraged by a part-time sheriff who is paid a full-time $15,000 a year salary. For a salary of $15,000, the Ulster County sheriff should be available," said Nersesian.

"It is an interesting fact that the current sheriff, who always pleads poverty in his press releases, has a department riddled with fancy assignments for cronies while the ordinary guard or deputy continues to pound the time card on an hourly basis," the former investigator continued.

"It is public knowledge that the current sheriff has received almost 90 per cent of everything he asked for from the County," he said.

Nersesian continued, "Don't ask the sheriff about the depressing non-record of his phantom-like operation, the so-called Youth Division. A close inspection of this little sheriff's hideaway for cronies indicates an almost zero progress report when compared to the excellent record of a local city police agency."

"That quote from former First Sgt. Ray Davis sums up the attitudes of the incumbent, 'The embarassing public disclosure of the sheriff's one signature bank account in New Paltz is being whitewashed away with the amazing statement that it was all for the poor Deputies Association . . . six years before the Association was formed. A remarkable crystal ball performance,'" Nersesian said.

"Ulster County residents no longer have faith in the ability of the present incumbent who pleads poverty and yet is still able to tolerate an almost totally non-productive law enforcement unit within the structure of the present sheriff's department," Nersesian said.

"Government by crony should not be permitted to exist in the Ulster County Sheriff's Department," he concluded.

Professor Brown Settles Down, but...

NEW PALTZ

Edward Brown, the sociology professor who at one time held three full-time jobs at different colleges, has agreed to work only at California (Pa.) State College, according to the Associated Press, but the State University College at New Paltz, where he is still listed on the payroll, has not yet received his resignation.

Joel Swift, assistant to President Stanley K. Coffman Jr. at New Paltz, said Tuesday that if Brown does not resign, the State University of New York will bring charges against him.

"The University is prepared to file charges if he doesn't resign," said Swift.

Brown, for a period of about six months prior to last February held full time teaching positions at California State, Bronx Community College, and New Paltz. He resigned his job at Bronx Community College last February, but kept his jobs at New Paltz and the college in Pennsylvania. He was then suspended from California State, but returned there, where he is tenured professor with seven years of service, to teach this summer.

While teaching at California State, according to the AP, he commuted regularly to New York. Vice President for Academic Affairs John Watkins said they knew at California State that Brown was regularly commuting to New York, but that he and the rest of the Californai State administration thought he was just finishing his doctorate.

In addition to his three full-time teaching jobs, Brown was also reportedly enrolled at New York University, working on his doctorate.

"He's been contrite," the AP quotes Watkins as saying. "The issue has been resolved. We're not going to tolerate that dual employment.''

When Brown's continuing employment at New Paltz became known late last month, Watkins told the Freeman he was "startled" to learn that Brown had not resigned the position.

"We thought he had resigned from the position at New Paltz," said Watkins at the time. "Frankly, we thought the matter had been resolved."

According to several unofficial estimates, Brown's salary, if he had held all three full-time jobs for an entire year, would have totaled about $50,000.

Swift said the charges against Brown, should he not go through with his resignation from New Paltz, would be drawn up by the State University Counsel, in Albany. Swift said Brown had not been personally informed of the impending charges should he not resign, because despite repeated attempts to reach him and a number of requests that his calls be returned, Swift had not been able to get in contact with Brown.

'Hey Sarge, They're Turning Around!'

United Press International

Whatever it was that was flying over Saratoga County Tuesday night remained a mystery early today.

State police said "there were innumerable sightings of flying objects in the air over Saratoga County." But, a sergeant who saw them was convinced they were just small planes with their lights turned off.

The troopers were dispatched to investigate after dozens of residents of the Malta-Round Lake-Clifton Park area called to report sighting one or more strange, flying objects.

A desk sergeant at the Loudonville headquarters of Troop G said, "They were witnessed by at least three of our units."

Any "UFO" sighting usually draws a degree of skepticism. But, the sergeant added, "It had to be something; when you hear a guy you've worked with for 13 years say 'Hey it's stopped —its' turning around — it's going the other way."

He said he asked the radio car if there was any noise, such as an aircraft might make, but the patrol said the object was totally silent.

Trooper T.C. Cole of Loudonville said "a red object" was pointed out to him.

"I don't know what it was," he said. "There were no strobe lights like there would be on a regular plane and no noise. It was going north and was quite a way from me at the time."

Cole said he went to the Round Lake area to investigate the sighting reports.

"Other troopers said a couple of the objects alternated between red and green," he added.

Robert King, a flight official at the Albany County Airport, said control tower radar showed a few "targets," or flying objects, in the area, but none which would arouse suspicion.

Unidentified radar reflections can appear from a large flock of birds, private planes which have not reported to the airport, or even a weather balloon, he said.

Ford's Amnesty Plan

President Ford took a courageous first step when addressing a Veterans of Foreign Wars convention in Chicago he called for a program of conditional amnesty for the more than 50,000 youths who are living undercover for either deserting the armed forces or refusing to be drafted during the unlamented Vietnam War.

The audience, including many of whom had suffered from the rigors of combat, certainly was not in a receptive mood, and the President's bold proposal was reportedly met with a wall of stoney silence. Understandable, but certainly not in a Lincolnesque spirit.

The mess that was the Vietnam War heavily strained the bonds of this nation for too long a time, and the Freeman agrees with Mr. Ford that the moment is now at hand to open the doors for so many youths who made a tragic but honest mistake. It should be carefully noted that the President did not ask a blanket forgiveness, but that a special board be organized to judge each case on its individual merits—a proposal that insures dealing with those who simply evaded the draft to avoid the inconveniences of military service.

Ford stated he opposed unconditional amnesty but declared, "so do I reject revenge." So should the rest of us, and hopefully some sort of program of compensatory service to the nation can be devised to erase the blot that is staining so many young lives.

Energy Crisis Forgotten

Americans continue to go blithely on their way all but ignoring the energy crisis the nation endured last winter and early spring.

About the only reminder of the crisis is the 55 mile-an-hour speed limit signs dotting the highways.

Almost everything else is back to normal. Cars and trucks clog the roads. If anyone is turning off unnecessary lights, it is more likely to save money than to conserve power plant fuel. Car pools are rare again, and the one-occupant car is taken for granted.

Service stations are urged by their suppliers to sell more gasoline and have been threatened with loss of lease for failure to remain open later into the night and on Sundays.

Even gasoline wars are being predicted and refiners' inventories continue to grow at a time when summer driving normally would reduce supplies.

Apparently the shortage of a few months ago has been forgotten. This is unfortunate. It should be remembered that whatever the surpluses of the moment, the worldwide supply of petroleum — our chief source of energy — continues to be depleted at a rate we know to have ominous implications for our future.

It is important to point out that there is really no surplus of petroleum at all, only an excess of current productions to make the supply meet the demand. Because of this there is no justification for a return to higher speed limits, no justification for price wars, or other steps that encourage consumption of oil and gasoline.

Furthermore, continued dependence on high oil production abroad runs counter to the goal of making the United States self-sufficient in energy supplies and thus less vulnerable to another Arab oil embargo.

A sensible conservation policy would call for cutting production—not prices — to avoid waste that is encouraged when energy is cheap. Profits should be directed into aggressive development of those alternate energy sources we are going to need desperately on that inevitable day when oil reserves run out.

Military Used as Lackeys

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Congressmen are grumbling that the message of inflation and frugality is not getting through to our admirals, generals and a few administration highlivers.

Legislators who drop by to chat with the brass hats at cocktail time, for instance, soon find that the military toasts being raised to belt-tightening are really 90-proof hogwash on the rocks.

The congressmen see GI servants mixing the drinks, polishing the silver, hustling the canapes, mowing the lawn outside and chauffeuring the Pentagon panjandrums' wives home from their shopping.

With such petty extravagance before their eyes, it is hard for the members to believe that the brass hats are being any more frugal with their multi-billion-dollar budget.

Actually, the hundreds of recruits assigned to such menial jobs are costing the taxpayers at least $5.4 million a year, even though Pentagon regulations bar the use of GIs as domestic servants for officers.

Lately, House appropriations chairman, George Mahon, D-Tex., who usually zips through military requests with the speed of a Polaris missile, has demanded to know why well-paid officers need GI servants.

In reply, former Army Secretary Robert Froehlke explained that he didn't want his Chief of Staff rushing home at five o'clock to mow the lawn. Growled Mahon:

"Well, he could hire his own help like the rest of us."

At a recent party for 500 — including then-Vice President Gerald Ford — Marine Commandant Gen. Robert Cushman dragooned local leathernecks to wash dishes and serve liquor without pay. Two of them were minors, which would have gotten Cushman's license revoked if he were running a bar. "This may have occured inadvertently," a spokesman explained lamely.

Like the other Joint Chiefs, Cushman is allotted five military servants for his personal convenience. At a GI salary of almost $8,000 plus benefits, this means each Chief can tap the taxpayers for $40,000 a year for his house-cleaning and errands.

During interviews with the GI slaveys, my reporter Howie Kurtz found them serving as baby-sitters, pet walkers, cookie bakers for a general's children, boot-polishers, car waxers and bathroom floor scrubbers.

When his general wants to summon him, one Air Force steward complained, he rings a bell. "The name should be changed from aide to maid," the steward grumbled. Although they are supposed to get extra pay for serving at parties, most don't. And some brass hats loan their stewards around as if they were portable appliances.

Until last year, these GI valets, cabin boys and grocery shoppers were sent to a training school to pursue such topics as The Correct Waitress, Ice Carving Made Easy, Use of Domestic Appliances, and The Army Wife. Now they learn on the job.

In a still-confidential General Accounting Office report, 675 enlisted men were found serving in the pantries and pool rooms of the military mighty. Countless others also serve, it is believed, but have gone undetected.

The ethnic make-up of the GI servants smacks of racism. Two-thirds of the Marine servants are black, the GAO found. And 98 per cent of the Navy's stewards are Filipinos.

The military, however, is simply following the royal example of the old Nixon White House, which seemed to have delusions that the "Mansion of the People" was really Versailles or the Imperial Palace.

A total of 91 Navy stewards were assigned to the White House, the GAO discovered, almost all Filipinos. Another 65 Navy aides were forced to chauffeur staffers. Nine cleaned up the cigarette butts and empty glasses in the cabins at Camp David. Others did menial tasks for the President at San Clemente and Key Biscayne.

When Nixon flew to the California White House, for example, 15 or 20 stewards were rushed out to be at his beck and call. Vice President Spiro Agnew, before he was forced out of office, had two houseboys assigned to him.

Aboard the presidential yacht Sequoia, Navy aides served as janitors and waiters for partying staffers. During 1972, one steward told us, former Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans used the yacht and its Navy crew to entertain GOP campaign contributors.

Other stewards wash dishes in the White House staff mess. Several times a week, they must also serve without pay as butlers at private parties in the homes of White House officials.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., outraged by such reports, brought the GAO in to look into White House misuse of GIs. The GAO privately informed Proxmire that they were stonewalled.

"We have been unable to obtain permission from the White House to examine the records or . . . to interview the personnel assigned to the staff mess," Proxmire was told.

Nevertheless, the GAO watchdogs did find at least $1 million was being spent by the White House to pay their GI servants. Some, the GAO reported, were working 60 hours a week.

Footnote: President Gerald Ford is unafflicted with an Arabian potentate complex, and already there are signs that fewer GI servants will be at the White House. Meanwhile, despite the new Pentagon regulations, most generals and admirals are still using their orderlies as household servants.

Short Gestation

Inside Report

Scrutinizing the Staff

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — President Ford is privately using a unique formula — sending chills through his inherited administration — to test the performance and work-styles of the old Nixon cabinet to see who he may want to keep and who he will allow to resign.

The Ford fomula: highly confidential interviews by a few presidential intimates with Democratic chairmen and ranking Republican members of congressional committees and subcommittees that work most closely with cabinet officers.

Questions to be asked include the cabinet member's ability to work with key Congressmen, their adaptability to compromise, the reliability of their staffs and their performance in office.

The brainchild of key presidential aide Philip Buchen, Mr. Ford's one-time law partner back in pre-Congress Grand Rapids days, the new technique is spreading alarm through cabinet ranks.

At least at the start, the inquisition is strictly a Ford operation. The President's inherited congressional liaison staff, headed by William Timmons, was not brought in. Instead, it is being handled by confidential aides not in the regular lines of communication between the White House and Capitol Hill.

What makes this cabinet testing so important is that Mr. Ford really intends to restore authority to the cabinet, pulling out the management functions of the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) set up in the early Nixon White House.

A footnote: One of the first departures from the Ford cabinet is likely to be Secretary of Labor Peter Brennan, a conservative ex-labor leader scorned by Mr. Ford's new friend, president George Meany, and other moguls of the AFL-CIO. A possible replacement: labor arbitrator Robben Fleming, a Democrat who is president of the University of Michigan.

President Ford's Wordsmith

When former Nixon aide Peter Flanigan visited the White House last week, he asked who wrote President Ford's superb first two speeches and seemed surprised by the answer: Robert Hartmann, Mr. Ford' veteran assistant now named to the cabinet as a presidential counselor.

"Well," drawled Flanigan, "I would say Hartmann has already earned his cabinet seat." Coming from a New York socialite and Wall Street investment banker, that might seem surprising praise for an abrasive ex-newspaper reporter thoroughly disliked by the Nixon White House. In fact, Flanigan's flattering reappraisal of Hartmann is widely shared by politicians of all shades who now view him as a force in the new administration.

No great contribution to a Ford presidency was expected of Hartmann, admittedly no administrator, with a reputation well-earned for rubbing people the wrong way. But instead of retiring to the sidelines as a presidential crony, Hartmann was the gifted penman of the two Ford speeches that achieved just the right effect. Moreover, he has emerged as the new President's key political advisor.

Hartman is credited with saving the President trouble by making late changes in earlier versions of his Aug. 12 speech to Congress. Hartmann's editing left Mr. Ford a loophole to reduce Pentagon spending by ruling out only "unwarranted" defense cuts and did not commit him to specific budget reductions.

A footnote: Hartmann is given major credit for not permitting Mr. Ford as Vice President to embrace President Nixon's cause as much as he really wanted. That's one reason Hartmann was so unpopular among the Nixon White House staff, the source of many anti-Hartmann newspaper accounts.

Southern Democracy

Even before Richard M. Nixon's resignation, his most important Southern Democratic supporter in the House — Rep. Joe Waggonner of Louisiana — was putting out feelers to establish relations with the national Democratic party.

As Mr. Nixon sank from sight, Waggonner led a group of conservative Southerners to a private meeting on Capitol Hill with Democratic national chairman Robert S. Strauss — the national Democratic baptism for most of them (Waggonner included).

Waggonner praised Strauss for trying to bring moderation to the party after the 1972 McGovernite binge and offered his help to return the party to the center. If that is not done in 1976, said Waggonner the moderates might not have another chance.

Waggonner and most other Southern Democratic Congressmen avoided national party affairs in 1972 as the left took over Southern delegations (such as Louisiana's). Waggonner had been eyed by the Nixon White House to lead a migration of Southern conservatives across the aisle from the Democratic to the Republican side. Now, the conservatives are showing they intend to stay Democratic into the foreseeable future.

Work Ethic Can Be Overdone

When a father goes off the rails, he tends to go far off. I preached ambition and personal achievement to four daughters. Marriage, I said, was not enough. Yesterday I learned that my daughter Ginny, mother of eight, is in the real estate business.

A niece, Mrs. Joan Angerami of Keansburg, N.J., sent an advertisement clipped from the Red Bank Register. There, beyond doubt, was the photo of our attractive daughter smiling out of newsprint at her parents.

A few years back, she told her mother that she was taking courses in real estate. We stifled our yawns. It would come to nothing. She and Charley have a platoon of youngsters — four boys, four girls — who eat like maddened termites.

Good luck. Forget it. We forgot it. Ginny didn't send the newspaper. Her cousin did. Beside the photo, some of the copy says: "At one time she was the youngest published authoress of an adult book when she was 17. She gave up a literary career to raise a family . . . She resides in Holmdel with her husband Charles . . . The Lane Agency, Holmdel, New Jersey."

The book. Yes, I forgot. In high school she became entranced with Father Duffy of the Fighting 69th, and ran all over Manhattan and the Bronx digging up old people who knew him. At 17, she wrote it; the book became a Doubleday Book Club selection, and she was finished as an author when she met Charles Frechette.

They prayed for children and, by God, their prayers were answered. She started with identical twins — Robin and Pamela — followed by four boys, then two more girls; and my old man moaned, "This is one hell of a busy family." He shuffled back to the bedroom with his rosary and a belt of rye.

This morning, Kelly and I phoned to congratulate Virginia Lee. Robin was on the phone. "If you want Mom," he said patiently, "you will have to call the Lane Agency. She's working in a model home." Never mind, I said.

The twins, I had forgotten, are now 16, and five-seven. She and her sister can cook dinner, wash dishes, iron clothes. I couldn't speak to Kevin either. At 14, he has a summer job.

Charley has a good position with Owens Illinois-Lily Tulip Company. He, too, is laced with ambition. The tiny ones, Amy and Kelly, I suspect, sort laundry or rake the front yard. They're eight and three, and being three is no excuse.

I overdid the work ethic somewhere. And yet all of my girls, in spite of setting life goals for themselves, reserve plenty of time for fun. All of them enjoyed dates and movies and were raised on spaghetti and meatballs. All are now into pizza.

Gayle, the only one to drop out after high school, fashioned her own ambition. She wandered in and out of hospital work until she found Dr. Jack Mickley, a renowned pathologist. Without a medical degree, she studied anatomy and autopsies, absorbing everything he said and did, worshipping his knowledge and the man.

It's nice work if you enjoy being with quiet people. Last year Gayle, the family cheapskate, bought her own house and paid cash. She has a swimming pool and a knuckleheaded Great Dane named Caesar. Feeding him keeps her working.

Karen met a boy, Mark Lavrich, in elementary school, and decided to marry him. They've been engaged, I think, since the Civil War. He's studying to be a C.P.A. She'll get a degree entitling her to teach retarded children. Karen has the patience, the knowledge, the love.

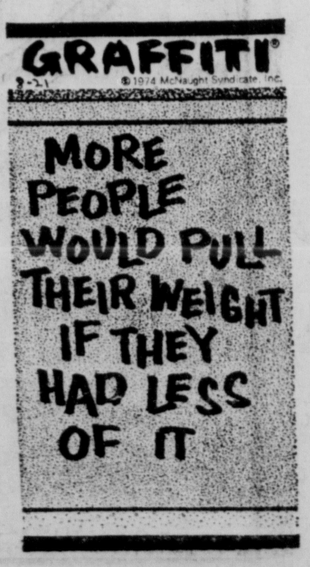

Our youngest, in December, will be off to Florida Atlantic University as a junior. Kathi is 19. She wants a master's degree in family psychology. Stated succinctly, she would like to mend broken marriages. This one studies all over the rug and is never satisfied with less than an "A".

"When we were all little," she said, looking at the ad about Ginny, "you said you knew a lot of wives who couldn't help their husbands. You also said, 'What will you do if your husband is disabled, or dies? Many widows have children and no skills.'"

Fine. If I said it, I'm a notch brighter than I thought. But, most emphatically, I did not say, "Aim for a bigger career than your husband." What I probably said was, "Someday I'm gonna chuck this typewriter in the garbage can. When that day arrives, you kids better be ready to chip in to support your parents."

With that in mind, I can afford one benevolent smile (each) for the real estate tycoon, the free autopsy when I'm ready for it, the exceptional children program, and I'll bust up the marriage just so Kathi can practice mending it . . .

Letters to the Editor

Open Letter

Editor, The Freeman:
To Town of Ulster Republican C mmittee:

According to the article in The Freeman Wednesday, Aug. 14, 1974, you are withdrawing your support of Rep. Hamilton Fish because he voted to impeach former President Nixon. In other words, even though it's rather obvious that Mr. Nixon was guilty of an impeachable offense, you expected Rep. Fish to ignore these facts!

When does politics end, gentlemen, and honesty, right and wrong, take over? Are we to teach our children two sets of values?

Is it any wonder that most people these days don't believe what politicians and public officials say?

Let me close with this statement to the Republican Committee: I'm going to vote for honest officials like Rep. Fish.

Sincerely,
PETER GASPAR
Stone Ridge

Dismayed

Editor, The Freeman:

It is with some dismay I read the action of the Town of Ulster Republican Committee which has unanimously voted that it "cannot continue to support" Congressman Hamilton Fish because he voted in favor of two articles of impeachment of former President Nixon.

Is it, then, in spite of all we have been through with Watergate, to be "politics as usual," and "my party, right or wrong"? Congressman Fish displayed courage and a high sense of integrity in his vote; moreover, subsequent events proved him right!!

This is what Watergate was all about — honesty, integrity, and adherence to principle as opposed to power politics. It is sad to be disillusioned in a man you have believed in, and who achieved a great deal for his country; but our loyalty must be to the principles which have guided our country from the beginning.

An editorial in The Christian Science Monitor of August 13 says: "The real tragedy of Watergate will come if the response to it is cynicism about personal and public conduct rather than the renewed dedication to rectitude which now appears to be on the way," and "Only the individual decisions and acts of citizens can add up to a turn away from all sorts of 'moral flabbiness' as America's new era begins."

President Ford struck the right note in his speech to Congress. He said it is everybody's job to uphold and improve the country's morals and ethics.

What about it, voters of the Town of Ulster? Let's hear from you!!

Sincerely,
MARJORIE KING

DESERTION

Editor, The Freeman:

I have been a Republican all of my adult life. I have also been a "Nixon Republican" When he was Vice President, I felt he was one of our very best ever. As an American I was proud of his performance at that post. In 1960 when he was defeated by Mr. Kennedy and the controversy arose concerning voting irregularities in Texas and Illinois, I felt Mr. Nixon should protest. Of course he didn't. In 1962 when he was defeated in California and made his infamous "Kick-Nixon" speech, I really felt bad. But it seemed like a whole new ballgame in 1968 when he finally was electd President. I had all the confidence in the world that he would be one of the real great Presidents in our history. And his performance over the first four years were truly great, especially in foreign affairs. In 1972 Mr Nixon owned the Presidency. Mr. McGovern was the victim but I believe Mr. Nixon could have defeated any candidate from any party.

Then came the tragedy of Watergate. And the irony of Watergate was that Mr. Nixon didn't need it, not politically, not for revenge, not for any reason. Whether Mr. Nixon knew of it before hand, ordered it, planned it or whatever, has not been proven. But by his own confession we do know he did try to cover up the crime that was committed. Now we have heard comments ever since the break-in that the Liberals are trying to hang Nixon, the News Media is trying to hang Nixon, the Left Wing Radicals are trying to hang Nixon, the Democrats are trying to hang Nixon. Well nobody had to hang Nixon, not the Liberals, or Democrats, not even Erhlichman, Haldeman, Dean, or Mitchell hung Nixon.

Mr. Nixon hung Mr. Nixon. And Mr. Fish didn't hang Mr. Nixon. Mr. Fish didn't desert Mr. Nixon. Mr. Fish didn't desert the Republican Party. Mr. Fish didn't commit a crime against the American people. But Mr. Nixon deserted Mr. Fish. He deserted the Republican Party. And he committed a crime against the American people. And now some of our esteemed Party leaders in Ulster County want to desert Mr. Fish.—to hang Mr. Fish. And why pray tell? Because he had the courage of his convictions. He gave an honest evaluation of the situation and voted his convictions. Not because he has lied to his constituents. Not because he has been dishonest. Not because he has committed a crime. They are trying to hang him because he was right.

I am not writing this letter to defend Mr. Fish or support Mr. Fish. I am just wondering about the quality of the leadership of the County leaders in the Republican Party. I am wondering if maybe the rank and file of the Republican Party shouldn't take a good long look at these leaders Maybe we could use a change in Ulster County also.

Thank you.

. . . on Fish's Impeach Vote

True Courage

Editor, The Freeman:

Re: article on August 14, 1974 by Town of Ulster Republican Committee — "Impeach Vote to Cost Fish Some Support".

Certainly these appointed men should realize what Congressman Fish did was of true courage, knowing how some committeemen would feel. Do we support just a political name, or what the people want, which is honesty in government?

Mr. Fish was elected by the people, and dedicated workers. He has done well in office for us all, and shown the courage that is needed in one of our highest offices. Let's keep him there.

To rebuild the Republican Party is by standing behind Mr. Fish, not by an article as such by the Town of Ulster Committeemen, which only destroys the party and its people.

Sincerely,
MR. AND MRS. A.L. WILMATH

Narrow View

Editor, The Freeman:

As a registered Republican and a resident of the Town of Ulster, I find great fault with the narrow attitude of the Town of Ulster Republican Committee. It is my feeling that the Town of Ulster Republican Committee is only concerned with the Republican Party and not with the broader view that Mr. Fish had about what was best for our country.

The action Mr. Fish took was, I am very sure, a very difficult decision. The evidence was overwhelming. His (Mr. Fish) decision was just. Republican Committee of the Town of Ulster, it is quite evident to me, that you have been and are still wearing rose-colored glasses.

I believe that instead of condemning Mr. Fish, you should be praising him for his integrity.

MRS. JOHN R. MONTAGUE

Didn't Believe It

Editor, The Freeman:

I read with surprise the headline stating that Congressman Fish had lost support in the Town of Ulster because of his impeachment vote.

I don't believe it. We in the Town of Ulster are like people all over the country — we are not hillbillies or illiterates. Our moral standards are as high as those of any Americans. We expect quality in our government just as others do. We do not accept corruption or overlook it in the name of party loyalty.

For myself — and I know that many, many others feel the same — I am glad Congressman Fish has a conscience and followed it in his vote. I congratulate him for his honesty and courage. He has no scandals in his career — maybe one of these years, he'll be our candidate for President. He has been an outstanding Congressman and will surely go much further in his career.

Meantime, now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of our candidate for Congress!!!

Sincerely,
LAURA RETHIER

Refreshing

Editor, The Freeman:

As a registered, but admittedly inactive, Republican, I must express dismay over any Republican Committee, such as that of the Town of Ulster, which "unanimously and without reservation voice their extreme displeasure" at the stand taken by Congressman Hamilton Fish, Jr. regarding impeachment of former President Nixon.

I do not claim to understand all the ins-and-outs of the Watergate affair and related matters, but it appars to me that the issues involved here are much greater than those of being loyal to the Republican party or supporting "an elected Republican official."

Upholding the Constitution of the United States, not only in word but also in deed, and operating within the law are basic to the preservation of our nation. Honesty in government, insofar as it is possible for fallible human beings to maintain, should be more important to us than partisan loyalty. Let us all hope—and sincerely pray—that President Ford, unlike his predecessor, will be able to distinguish between honesty and expediency, and will have the integrity and courage to act thereon.

I, for one, find it refreshing — and encouraging — when a politican is willing to risk his political neck for something higher than personal gains or party interests.

Yours truly,
CAROL D. LARSEN

Disapproval

Editor, The Freeman:

As past commander of Albany County Chapter Catholic War Veterans and St. Ignatius Loyola Catholic War Veterans Post No. 1769, I beg to differ with some of my veteran comrades about how effectively Congressman Hamilton Fish, Jr. has been in serving the veterans. It has been my experience the Congressman is full of platitudes but no substance. He is great in getting a proclamation signed but when it comes to straightening out the Veterans Administration, they, the VA, can't find his office.

Since we now have a Congressman with a conscience, this same conscience has a deathly quietness about it. Did the conscience speak when the Supreme Court sanctified the murdering of Americans by abortion?

The conscience was quiet when the Gun Control Act of 1968 was passed gutting the 2nd Amendment, an impeachable offense. Pretty quiet when the North Vietnam Communists are killing South Vietnam civilians. Maybe he wants the support of the better "Red than dead crowd."

I can sympathize with the Town of Ulster Republicans on how they feel about the Congressman; with veterans' affairs he has been less than effective. The Congressman may have voted his conscience, but he will never be able to fill the shoes of the man he voted to impeach.

Indict Orange Man On Payoff Charges

NEW YORK (AP) —A federal indictment Tuesday accused a Newburgh, N.Y., man of making regular payoffs for 18 months in 1970-71 to the then chief of police and a police lieutenant in Newburgh for gambling protection.

The Joint Strike Force against Organized Crime obtained the indictment, which alleged conspiracy and conducting an illegal gambling business, against Quentin Wendell Skipworth, 65, of 356 Grand St., Newburgh, a former taxi operator.

Skipworth, who is to plead Sept. 3 in U.S. District Court, Manhattan, allegedly made monthly $400 protection payoffs to Humber Cappelli, then police chief, who has since been convicted on state corruption charges.

It also charged Skipworth gave $30 to $100 a month to then Lt. Anthony Paonessa of the Newburgh police.

Paonessa has also been convicted on corruption charges in Orange County.

Skipworth allegedly paid the two police officers from June 1970 through 1971 to "fail to faithfully execute the duties of their office and fail to properly investigate and initiate prosecutions."

Cappelli and Paonessa were named coconspirators by the grand jury but not defendants.

Mrs. Hinchey Advocates Referendum on Bathgate

SAUGERTIES

Local opposition appears to be forming against the proposed Bathgate development west of the village which was granted water and sewage rights by the Village Board at its Aug. 5 meeting.

The board voted 5-1 with Mayor Vernon A. Benjamin abstaining and Councilwoman Erika Hinchey voting against, to extend town water and sewage lines to the development which will encompass some 22 acres on the western border of the village in the town of Saugerties. Plans call for a shopping complex and a motel.

Mrs. Hinchey has called for a public referendum, noting that the board voted three weeks ago without a public hearing.

"This matter is of crucial importance to the residents of the village," she said. "I think they should be heard. I had asked for a public hearing on the subject of granting water and sewage facilities to Bathgate but the Board refused."

Mrs. Hinchey contends that the Bathgate development would endanger the village's water supply which she said "is already strained." She recalled the droughts of the early '60s that "severly reduced the available water in the Blue Mountain Resevoir" where the village draws its water.

Twenty per cent of the enrolled village voters will have to sign petitions in order to get the issue on the ballot, Mrs. Hinchey said. Petitions are available at her home at 68 Livingston Street.

Meanwhile, Richard Wrolsen of 7091 Abbot Court said, "I believe the thrust of the board decision lends itself to a chain of events that will prove to be irreversible and to cause a profoundly adverse effect upon the village in years to come."

Wrolsen did not specify just what course his opposition would take.

The Saugerties Business Association meets tonight where the topic will be discussed. Wrolsen has been invited to offer his views.

Buford Pusser Dies in Crash

SELMER, Tenn. (UPI) — Buford Pusser, a crime-busting sheriff made famous by the movie "Walking Tall," was killed today in a flaming traffic accident.

His death came less than 24 hours after he signed to star in a sequel to the smash boxoffice hit about his battles against gambling, moonshining and prostitution in McNairy County, Tenn.

The Tennessee Highway Patrol said the 36-year-old Pusser died when his 1974 red sports car careened off Highway 64, crashed into an embankment and burst into flames.

Pusser was thrown clear and died instantly. The Highway Patrol said there was no sign of foul play in the wreckage.

There were seven attempts on Pusser's life while he served as sheriff and one of them killed his wife and almost killed him. "Walking Tall" ended with Pusser lying in a hospital bed, half his face shot away by .30-caliber pistol bullets.

Fourteen plastic surgery operations gave him a new appearance, and he was wearing his hair longer than his crewcut of law enforcement days.

"There was no apparent reason for the accident that I could find," said Trooper Paul Ervin. "I don't know if there was a tire blowout or not. I couldn't tell from the burned car."

Ervin said that Pusser apparently was headed home to Adamsville, Tenn. His daughter was alone in another car traveling behind him and witnessed the accident.

City Resident Arrested in Radio Theft

KINGSTON

Responding to a complaint of a burglary on Rodney Street shortly before noon Tuesday, city patrolmen nabbed a 23-year-old Cedar Street resident who was allegedly carrying a radio taken in the theft.

Police arrested Bobby Johnson of 137 Cedar Street on a charge of third degree burglary. He was picked up on Rodney Street in the vicinity of the burglarized residence.

Police said Johnson allegedly entered the home of Edward Bennett of 3 Rodney Stret and took the radio.

Johnson was confined in jail in lieu of $5,000 bail following arraignment. He is scheduled to reappear in court today.

Man With Snake Causes A Minor Stir

KINGSTON

A man looking for a pet shop caused a minor stir in Kingston Tuesday afternoon — and attracted enough attention to result in a call to police.

City police were summoned to the Wall Street area shortly after noon by a caller who reported a man was walking around with a large snake wrapped around him.

The report proved to be true. When police arrived they found the man carrying what was described as a small python. The unidentified man was looking for a pet shop, police said.

No explanation was given as to why the man was looking for the pet store — but perhaps he was only looking for someone to tell him how to get free of the oversized worm draped over him.

'75 GM Line Hits Showrooms

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp.'s 1975 model line hits showrooms this week, a full month ahead of the official introduction dates and earlier than the other three major automakers.

A GM spokesman said Monday the decision to begin selling early was made because dealers had low inventories on some 1974 models and were begging for more cars to sell.

"The dealers have been asking for this because their inventories are extemely low, especially in mid-size and full-size cars," the spokesman said.

The last time the giant automaker sold cars before the official introduction dates was in 1971. The introductions for Cadillacs had been scheduled Sept. 19, with Chevrolets, Buicks and Oldsmobiles scheduled for introdcution Sept. 27.

Ford Motor Co. said it still planned to wait until Sept. 27 to put its 1975 models on sale. Chrysler said it would stick by its Oct. 1 introduction date and American Motors will introduce its new line Oct. 15.

The 1975 GM models will carry an average price increase over the 1974s of nearly $500, a 9.5 per cent jump. That hike, combined with an average $546 boost during the 1974 model year, means new cars will cost about $1,000 more than they did when 1974 models were introduced last August.

Ford has announced tentative price increases on new models averaging $418, while Chrysler and AMC so far have indicated no price hikes on the 1975s.

Agreement Reported By Mammoth Mart

Mammoth Mart, Inc. (Amex) has announced that an agreement in principle had been reached with committees of its creditors for a planned arrangement with its creditors.

At a meeting held at the offices of Prudential Insurance Company in Boston, agreement was reached to recommend a plan which would give creditors a choice of one of the following options:

Payment of 100 per cent of the claim, of which 25 per cent is payable in cash upon confirmation, with the balance to be paid in eight equal annual installments, without interest;

Payment of 50 per cent of the claim in cash upon confirmation, as payment in full;

Payment of 100 per cent of the claim, payable in 12 equal annual installments beginning Feb. 15, 1977 with interest from Feb. 15, 1975 at 8 per cent per annum.

Creditors who choose either of the first two options will receive shares of common stock. A total of 400,000 shares are expected to be issued, which will amount to approximately 9.6 per cent of the stock outstanding after the issue.

Administrative expenses and various other claims are to be paid in full on confirmation of the plan.

The plan of arrangement is subject to acceptance by the majority in number and amount of the creditors and to confirmation by the court.

A Mammoth Mart store in the Kingston, N.Y. area is located on Ulster Avenue Mall in the Mammoth Mall shopping complex.

Four-Bedroom Home Makes Its Debut in Highland

HIGHLAND — The four-bedroom townhome, The Edgemont, is one of a number of interesting model townhomes open for inspection at Sunny Brook on Toc Road in Highland. According to William Steinfield, vice-president of marketing for U.S.H. Corporation of New York — builder of the distinctive community — "The four-bedroom Edgemont is designed to appeal to families enthusiastic about this new housing lifestyle of the 70s."

Steinfield points out that U.S. Home's research studies showed the trend to townhome living is not confined to singles and couples — but families with young and teen-age children, too. Entire families are adopting this new home ownership way to live, which offers on-site recreation and minimum maintenance chores.

"The Sunny Brook community's cluster-style homes with on-site clubhouse equipped with lounge, hobby rooms, kitchen facilities, swimming pool and sunning patio offer families a chance to do things together," Steinfield asserts, "and to participate in fun times with neighbors. It brings back the good old-fashioned small community togetherness that generations past have enjoyed. It offers a good way of life, which is why townhome living is having a strong revival across the nation."

Townhomes at Sunny Brook range in price from $25,990 to $30,990. Home buyers have the advantage of U. S. Home-arranged mortgage financing, which means qualified buyers may obtain 30-year mortgages with five per cent down.

To reach Sunny Brook at Highland, take the New York Thruway north to Exit 19 (New Paltz) onto Route 299 east to Route 9W (approximately two miles). Turn right on 9W for approximately two miles to Vineyard Avenue. Turn right and go to Toc Road. Turn right, and it is about one-quarter mile to Sunny Brook.

Sunny Brook is the first community to be built in New York by U.S.H. Corporation of New York, a divison of the U.S. Home Corporation, one of the nation's top three name builders. Its shares are traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Chase Manhattan New Regional Head

NEW YORK — Donald J. Lindsay has been appointed president of the Chase Manhattan Bank of the Southern Tier, N.A., by the bank's board of directors, it was announced today.

Chase Manhattan Bank of the Southern Tier, N.A., to be headquartered in Binghamton, is a subsidiary of the $35.2 billion-deposit Chase Manhattan Corporation.

Lindsay is a graduate of Harvard College, Columbia University Law School, Columbia Graduate School of Business, and is a member of the New York Bar. He previously served Chase in New York and London in such capacities as vice president and manager of the skills development division, European training coordinator and corporate lending officer.

"Don Lindsay brings to his new position in Binghamton an extensive background in commercial lending and business development, most recently passing on his knowledge to future Chase officers through the internal training and development program," Thomas A. Hayne, chairman, said.

Lindsay commented, "As a native of Upstate New York, I am especially excited at taking on the challenge of shaping our Binghamton operations and look forward to introducing our people and bank to the Southern Tier."

William C. McCahill, Chase vice-president, who had previously been scheduled to become president of the new Binghamton bank, has been named senior credit and marketing officer for the entire Upstate network of Chase Manhattan. This includes, in addition to the Binghamton bank, subsidiaries based in Albany, Buffalo, Rochester, Saugerties, Canton and Syracuse.

Present plans call for the Binghamton facility to open late in 1974 at State and Court Streets, with the specific date of opening pending completion of construction.

The Saugerties branches of Chase Manhattan are located on Main Street, Saugerties and the Simmons Plaza Branch, Route 9W.

Senate's IBM Position Is Scored

BINGHAMTON "The U.S. Senate's preoccupation with International Business Machines' business operations is both unnecessary and unjust," according to Broome County Executive Edwin Crawford, candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in the 27th District.

Crawford said that IBM has long made a significant contribution to the economic growth and vitality of the district." The quality of IBM's product, and the skill of its workers, have brought this corporation outstanding financial success, and have added immeasurably to the prosperity of the 27th congressional district," he said.

Crawford said he is aware of the importance of IBM to the continued prosperity of our community, and has closely followed two specific national developments which, by involving IBM, may well have a key impact on our local economy.

The Justice Department, long critical of IBM's dominant position in the computer industry field, has initiated antitrust proceedings against the IBM corporation. The merit of the government's challenge is to be weighed in court this coming winter.

In recent weeks, the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly Subcommittee has undertaken an examination of the competitive aspects of the computer industry in connection with its debate on the Industrial Reorganization bill.

"It is my sincere belief that the present Senate hearings on the computer industry, and it's preoccupation with IBM's business operations, are both unnecessary and unjust. This Senate inquiry has given computer industry spokesmen who are in competition with IBM an open forum to present opinionated statements prejudicial to IBM's position. Yet IBM is bound by court order to limit its comments concerning matters involved in the pending antitrust litigation — therefore, IBM is unable to rebut in detail the damaging accusations made by witnesses in the course of these hearings," he said.

"While there can be no doubt that Congress bears the responsiblity to overview the workings of the American economy, the hearings of the subcommittee on the computer industry violate a sense of fairness. I share the opinion of Nicholas deB. Katzenbach, a former attorney-general and now IBM general counsel who warned that the hearings could only generate testimony adverse to IBM in circumstances where IBM could not properly respond to otherwise defend itself," Crawford continued.

"Furthermore, the Senate subcommittee hearing is unnecessary. A detailed and exact accounting of the computer industry field will be presented during the trial of the IBM antitrust case scheduled for this December. The court record will include a far more comprehensive review of the computer industry than any limited congressional hearing could possibly provide. It would have been preferable if the Senate subcommittee had postponed its deliberations until after the court proceedings were completed," he said.

"My interest in this issue stems not only from the impact it may have on our district's local economy but also as it relates to the question of the responsibility a congressman must bear in the discharge of his duties. Too often political figures appear to act merely for the sake of attracting press coverage. Speeches are made, investigations are launched, hearings are scheduled not to improve the quality of debate or the operation of government but solely for the personal political ends of the initiator. It is a common failing somewhat understandable in light of the political pressures that men and women in the public eye are often subjected to. Yet those in politics who fall prey to such impulses perform a disservice to the constituence they represent," Crawford said.

"I pledge, as I have throughout my campaign, that I shall perform my duties not with an eye towards shortrun partisan gain but rather in terms of what is right for our district and nation as a whole," he concluded.

Betros Lists Lottery Plan

POUGHKEEPSIE New York State Lottery prize winners will win even bigger if a proposal developed by Assemblyman Emeel S. Betros (R-99th Dist.) becomes a reality.

Betros said recently that he wants to make lottery prizes free of all state taxes.

And that, he said, would put about $1,600,000 more in the pockets of lucky ticket holders, based on last year's lottery prize winnings of approximately $40 million.

"I think it's a plan worth trying," Betros said, "and it would make our lottery more attractive than those of other states. It is also possible that some people don't buy tickets because they unconsciously picture themselves having to hand back a big piece of the prize they might win in taxes," Betros suggested.

"That's the heart of my proposal: that dropping the tax on lottery prizes would be an immediate minor revenue loss for the state, but it would very likely lead to much bigger sales of tickets.

"The bigger ticket sales would more than offset the loss of the tax income, and the final result would be a net gain for the state. But the people of the state would be the real big winners, since every dollar raised by the lottery is a dollar less to be raised by taxes," he said.

"I have discussed the idea with State Lottery Commission Chairman Vincent Baletta and he agrees that the elimination of state taxes would probably increase the ticket sales."

"The proposal is now only in a formative stage," Betros said, "but I intend to follow it through. If, as it now seems, the plan is a sound one, I would be happy to sponsor it in the Legislature," he concluded.

Hinchey Hits On Handguns

SAUGERTIES A call for action to tighten up on jail or prison sentences for illegal possession of hand guns has gone out from Democratic candidate for Assembly in the 101st District, Maurice Hinchey of Saugerties.

Hinchey said that "To make sure that such felons go to prison for substantial sentences, I am recommending that the illegal possession of handguns be changed from a Class D to a Class C felony, which would make imprisonment mandatory.

"I am also proposing that the jurisdiction of the Special Narcotics Parts of the State Supreme Court be expanded to include felony handgun cases," Hinchey said.

"Such action would, hopefully result in swift trials and certainty of sentence. It would also serve notice on the illicit gunrunners and criminal gun-toters that society means business and that the police, prosecutors and courts are working together to put these criminals out of business," he suggested.

"Recent statistics gathered by the State Commission of Investigation in metropolitan areas have shown that prison sentences have been imposed in only three of 26 felony possession convictions, and that no jail sentences have been given in 85 per cent of the cases disposed of. Obviously this sorry record must be corrected," Hinchey said.

He also called for a ban on "Saturday night specials," cheap guns with no legitimate use, and a statewide educational campaign to alert the public, judges and other officials to the fact that illegal handguns are second only to narcotics as a

Kropp Favors National Health Insurance Program

BINGHAMTON — "National health insurance will become a reality in the next session of Congress" and if elected, Democratic candidate for Congress in the 27th District Robert M. Kropp will vote in favor of it.

Kropp said that "everyone keeps talking about national health insurance as though it was something new, and just introduced. National Health Insurance bills of various descriptions have been kicking around Congress for the last 20 years. In drafting NHI legislation there are many pertinent questions that must be answered by legislators before the NHI bill that would serve all people equally could be passed."

"The first question I ask myself is NHI required or necessary? There are many people in America who are totally without health care of any kind. Medical examinations are practically non-existent, except in cases where an epidemic is threatened. Catastrophic illness has caused many families to lose their life savings for costly medical service. The cost of our hospitals, and clinics, have already outraced the present health insurance programs to the extent that most people have to pay a large amount of money, over and beyond what their health insurance plan will pay for health services," he explained.

"What a national health plan must accomplish is to provide hospital and medical care to everyone on an equitable basis. The risk that we expose ourselves to is whether or not the quality of medical service will improve, remain the same, or deteriorate. I cannot see how the plan could do anything but improve our delivery of health services, if the American Medical Association, cooperates and works with the system instead of against it," Kropp suggested.

"The next big question is how will we pay for it? In the various plans that have already been submitted, each plan has a different method of funding. This is understandable in view of the various philosophies of the political parties represented that range from conservative to extreme liberal. I would personally favor a plan that is totally administered, and paid for, by the United States Government. I would provide some deductibles and also permit a co-insurance feature for those who would want more comprehensive coverage. These desirable features are in the Kennedy plan currently being considered," he continued.

We must concern ourselves with what the eventual cost of NHI will b and whether it will become inflationary or not. As we advance into new medical fields and develop new technology, we must assume the additional costs, if any. This is the price we must all pay for progress in any field," Kropp said.

"Another concern, we as legislators must have, is a concern for the demand for more doctors, and para-medical personnel, and, whether or not a national system of health care will dissuade persons from entering that profession. I feel that if the government provides adequate compensation, and benefits, without destroying the free enterprise system, in that profession, we can still attract an adequate supply of doctors, nurses, and para-medical personnel to serve the needs of our people. The question also comes to mind about the current supply of medical personnel and whether they could handle the work load if NHI were to become effective within the next two years. All indications point to the fact that they could absorb the workload but it would be difficult for awhile. The promoters of the health bill should probably provide some assistance to persons qualified to enter that field of endeavor, by providing educational grants to medical students," he continued.

"A great deal of care must be taken to prevent the system from going broke. In 1973 health spending was about $94.1 billion. By 1975 the expected cost will increase by 24 per cent to $116 billion in health care. The health care industry is the third largest industry in the nation and it employs 4.4 million people," Kropp revealed.

"American business currently has the largest stake in National Helath Insurance because they are the largest single purchaser of health insurance. The business stake is justified by the reduction of man-hour loss in industry over a long period of time," he said.

"President Ford has made an appeal to both houses to come up with a NHI package this year. While it is possible that it can be done, it is not probable, mainly because the views of most Congressmen are polarized on whether NHI should be privately financed or government run," he concluded.

Sloan Makes Proposal

BINGHAMTON — Michael J. Sloan, Democratic candidate for Congress in the 27th District, has made a five-point proposal for "meeting the pending unemployment crisis."

Sloan suggests that a major national job training program be established, especially in the vital categories of health, public safety, urban development and conservation.

He also feels that public employment should be guaranteed for those who cannot find work elsewhere.

Unemployment benefits should be liberalized to counter the effects of inflation, he suggests, and calls for a nationwide job bank to be established.

Such a bank would build data on available jobs so that unemployment offices and labor unions would have a greater knowledge of available jobs and their locations.

Sloan also suggests that the government pay for the cost of moving when a change to a new employer in a different part of the country results.

Endorsement For Cooke

MONTICELLO — Former Chief Judge of the New York State Court of Appeals Charles S. Desmond has endorsed Democrat Justice Lawrence H. Cooke of Monticello for the office of Associate Judge of the state's highest court.

Judge Desmond served for six years as chief judge. In his endorsement statement, he praised Justice Cooke's long record of judicial service.

"It is my judgment," Desmond said, "based on long and thorough study of Judge Cooke's character, ability and his judicial work, that he deserves the highest possible recommendation for election to the office of Associate Judge of the Court of Appeals.

"As an Appellate Division Justice he was the author of many important opinions. He has served for over 20 years as County Court Judge, Surrogate, Supreme Court Justice and Appellate Division Justice. On all four benches he has served with distinction.

"I believe I know what an Associate Judge of the Court of Appeals shold be. Judge Cooke is superbly qualified for the office.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock prices opened mixed in light trading Wednesday on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average had fallen 1.33 to 725.52 minutes after the opening. But issues rising in price outnumbered losers, 172 to 111, among the 418 stocks traded.

In the previous session, stocks posted their first gain in nine sessions. The turnaround followed a steep market decline that cut the Dow by almost 76 points.

General Motors to Trim Planned Price Hike

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp. today bowed to pressure from the White House to help fight inflation and announced it is trimming $54 from its planned price hike averaging nearly $500 on its 1975 model cars and trucks.

The average increase on GM's 1975 model cars, which are being put on sale as soon as dealers receive them, is now $446, including $100 to $160 for emission control equipment, $20 for higher destination charges and the remainder to cover the higher costs of labor and materiel.

The move by the nation's No. 1 auto maker, the acknowledged price leader, was seen as a gesture to take off the pressure that has been building since Aug. 9 when it announced the 9.5 per cent increase.

President Ford was sharply critical of th e hike and had called for a reduction.

"This reduction is our response to President Ford's appeal to all segments of the American public to help fight inflation," GM Chairman Richard C. Gerstenberg said in a three-page news release.

Gerstenberg said the new increase would average six per cent for cars and 10 per cent for trucks. On cars, this would include between $100 and $160 to cover the cost of adding new emmission control equipment.

Meanwhile, despite President Ford's call for a hold-the-line stand on prices, Ford Motor Co. says it will implement price hikes averaging $500 for its 1975 model cars.

Noting that before-tax profits per car now stand at less than $100 while costs rise at the rate of $50 per month per car, Ford President Lee A. Iacocca said Tuesday that the company had no alternative but to raise prices.

"How can we not take a big price increase?" he asked, citing cost increases.

The No. 2 automaker indicated in late July that its prices would be up about 8 per cent — or $418 —when the new models debut in September. But, Ford claims, costs have risen faster than anticipated and the increase should be in line with earlier General Motors price hikes, which brought sharp criticism from the White House.

Iacocca said in an interview with the Detroit News that unrecovered costs by Oct. 1, including the costs of the government-required catalytic converters for pollution control, will be $500 per car.

Neither Chrysler Corp. nor American Motors has set prices for their '75 models. Chrysler has indicated it will follow the GM and Ford lead to remain competitive. AMC's new models don't debut until November and the company has announced no price schedule.

Oil Companies to Repay Overcharges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ten oil companies have agreed to repay some $103.7 million in alleged overcharges to their customers, the Federal Energy Administration reports.

In addition, agency officials said on Tuesday that four other oil companies have been notified they are suspected of overcharges totaling some $90.7 million.

The overcharges stem from violations of the FEA's pricing regulations.

Of the 10 companies, four were ordered to bar price increases and to roll back prices and take other steps until overcharges totaling $58.2 million are made up. The FEA identified the firms as Ashland, Charter, Conoco and Koch.

The other six companies, which the FEA refused to name, voluntarily agreed to roll back prices totaling $45.5 million without a formal order from the agency. These companies had been accused of illegally increasing diesel fuel prices and service station rents and incorrectly computing base prices, product costs and product-exchange agreements with firms in other parts of the country.

An FEA spokesman said that in many instances the violations were inadvertent because of the complexity of the pricing regulations.

The victims of the overcharges ranged throughout the distribution chain from large terminal operators to consumers, and virtually all petroleum products were involved, the spokesman said.

The actions were taken during the first six-month study of oil company operations, which ended June 30, by the agency's refinery audit review program.

The FEA said its 90-member field staff is in the midst of its second round of audits.

The four companies suspected of overcharges of $90.7 million have been given an opportunity to explain their procedures.

Sugar Profits Rise

NEW YORK (AP) — The profits of sugar refiners have jumped to record levels while the price of sugar in the supermarket has soared in a year from 79 cents to $2 for a five-pound bag.

Refiners say crop failures in recent years have stimulated world bidding for the scarce commodity. And the United States, which imports more than half its sugar from Latin America, the Philippines and other foreign sources, is in the competition.

They also say the tight supply situation has given them the opportunity to raise their profit margins on the once-abundant but low-profit item.

Amstar Corp., the nation's largest sugar refiner with more than $1 billion in annual sales, reported a 110 per cent increase in annual profits to $31.4 million for the year ending June 30.

In the fourth quarter alone, Amstar's profits were $15.2 million, compared with $5.9 million the previous quarter and with $5.2 million for the previous year.

Sucrest Corp., which last reported profits for the quarter ended March 31, showed earnings of $758,000 for that quarter, compared with a deficit of $61,000 for the same quarter of 1973.

Living Cost Shows a Slight Rise

By The Associated Press

The Cost of Living rose 8/10ths of one per cent in July despite an easing in the increases in food prices, the government said today.

The July report marked only the second time this year the monthly increase in the government's Consumer Price Index has been less than 1 per cent.

The July increase would amount to an annual rate of inflation of 9.6 per cent, still ahead of last year's 8.8 per cent inflation rate.

Prices as of July 31 were 11.8 per cent higher than in July 1973, the government said. That is the biggest 12-month jump since the year ending September 1947, when the increase was 12.6 per cent.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said, however, workers managed to gain ground last month in their race with inflation.

Spendable earnings, after taking account for inflation, moved up by two-tenths of 1 per cent.

But since it was only the second monthly increase this year, real spendable earnings were 5.3 per cent less than a year earlier.

The major factors pushing up prices in July, the department said, were higher interests costs for home buyers and higher prices on cars, medical care and restaurant meals.

The increase in prices for regular gasoline showed from six-tenths of a penny in June to a two-tenths of a cent jump in July. The latest national average price worked out to 55.8 cents a gallon.

Lower Juror Age

Starting Sept. 1, all persons who have reached their 18th birthday are eligible for jury duty, according to Warren J. McDowell, comissioner of jurors.

He noted that the age eligibility has been lowered from 21. All interested persons may contact Commissioner McDowell at the Ulster County Court House, Kingston for applications.

QUICK (L), CHARPENTIER, THE BOY, HIS DOG

To The Rescue

KINGSTON — It was an extremely thankful mother who appeared at the Freeman office Monday to publicly praise ambulance personnel who took part in what must be one of the strangest "rescues" in area history.

The predicament: four-year-old Gene Ackert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brian Ackert of 44 Joy's Lane, Kingston, and his dog, Jim, somehow squeezed themselves into the narrow space between the double front doors of the Ackert home.

The obvious solution is to open either the inner or outer door.

But there was a problem. Both doors were locked, and the youngster had the keys to the doors with him, and didn't know how to use them.

"I just couldn't get him out," Mrs. Ackert said. "He had the keys. I was afraid he would run out of oxygen."

Fatum's Ambulance was summoned, and attendants Bert Quick and Norman Charpentier unscrewed the door hinges and rescued the lad and his dog, both unharmed.

"It was the funniest thing you've ever seen," Quick said. "The kid was so cute. There he was with both doors locked holding the keys and he didn't know how to put the keys in the lock."

Civil Service Exams

KINGSTON — Open competitive examinations have been announced by the Ulster County Civil Service Commission for a sewage treatment plant operator trainee, a school custodian, telephone operator, clerk and library clerk.

The last date for filing application for all the positions with exception of the sewage treatment operator is Sept. 6 with examinations to be given Sept. 21. The date for filing application for the sewage treatment operator is Sept. 14 with the examination to be given Oct. 19.

The operator trainee post exists in the Town of Ulster at a salary to be determined.

Two vacancies exist for the school custodian in school districts outside of Kingston School Consolidated. The salary varies.

The starting slary for telephone operators is $5,000 with one vacancy at Ulster County Community College and two in the Department of Buildings and Construction.

Library clerks also start at $5,000 in Ulster County's departments and at varying starting salaries in Ulster County school districts and libraries. The list will be used to fill future vacancies as they occur in the county, libraries and schools excluding Kingston Library and Kingston Schools Consolidated.

One clerk vacancy exists in the Ulster County Health Department, New Paltz School District and in the Town of Wawarsing at varying salaries with the county paying $5,000.

UCCC Orientations Set

STONE RIDGE — Ulster County Community College will hold special orientation programs for parents of new students, Aug. 27, 28 and 29.

Included in the program will be a tour of the campus, a presentation on student services at the college, a discussion on concerns of parents and students, an explanation of the required courses to be taken by students, and an introduction to life-long learning opportunities for parents.

Student services include personal, academic and career counseling. Participating in the orientation programs will be members of the student personnel staff who are directors or counselors specializing in financial aids, placement, transfer, health services and student activities.

Concerns of students and parent will be disucussed by Charles Schenck, Director of Counseling and Admissions. Areas to be explored will include college independence while remaining at home, proper use of free time, and financial realities while attending college.

Curricular requirements will be explained by faculty representatives from the respective division or department the student plans to enter. Included in the faculty's presentation will be specific reference to placement or transfer possibilities upon the completion of the program.

Dean of Students David L. Bartlett said the hope of the College is to acquaint parents with the services of Ulster County Community College and the potential stress situations their sons and daughters may experience while attending UCCC. By this introduction, the Student Personnel staff believes parents will feel more comfortable in contacting the College during the year if they have any questions or concerns about their children.

Programs are scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. in the college lounge in Vanderlyn Hall. Interested parents who have not received a formal invitation, may contact the College for additional information.

Clampett-Combs Wedding Vows Exchanged

Miss Patricia Diane Clampett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Clampett, Spring Street, Catskill, formerly of Kingston, became the bride of Alan M. Combs, son of Mr and Mrs. Milton J. Combs of Simmons Drive, Woodstock.

The Rev. John Murphy officiated at the ceremony Saturday, Aug. 3 in St. Patrick's Church, Catskill.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white jersey gown styled with a V-shaped neckline, Empire bodice and long, full sleeves with Bishop cuffs. The neckline and Empire waistline, as well as the cuffs, were trimmed with bands of Venetian lace and pearls. The full A-line skirt terminated in a chapel train. A Juliet cap of Venetian lace held her mantilla of tulle which was banded with Venetian lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses and white carnations.

Mrs. Kevin Murphy of Albany, the former Cathy Clampett, who was recently a bride, was matron of honor. Mrs. Daniel Lassell of Little Falls was an attendant. They wore identical yellow jersey gowns with gathered Empire waistlines, low shirred necklines and full cap sleeves. They carried bouquets of yellow daisies and white carnations.

Susan R. Burtnett and Barbar Ann Burtnett of Kingston, cousins of the bride, were flower girls. They wore hand smocked gowns in light blue flower print and carried bouquets of blue daisies and white carnations.

Gary Port of Kingston served as best man. Ushers were the bride's brother, Thomas J. Clampett, and William Weigel of Woodstock, nephew of the bridegroom. James W. Burtnett of Kingston, the bride's cousin, was ringbearer.

A reception was given at Catskill Country Club.

After a wedding trip to Barbados and Antiqua, the couple will reside at 122 Hawthorne Avenue, Utica, where the bridegroom is catering manager for Mohawk Community College.

The bride is a graduate of the College of St. Rose, Albany, where she received a BS degree in Sociology. Her husband is a graduate of the University of Denver.

Crafts Lead in Art Show Entries

Advance entries in Ellenville's sixth annual Art in the Square exhibit and competition on Saturday reflect a national trend toward handcrafts, according to Ellenville Art Council chairman, Dora Kaufman, who pointed out this week that the exhibitor list in the crafts category is now running ahead of last year's record entries.

Chairman Kaufman pointed out that this trend does not indicate any less interest in the more traditional art forms (". . . we already have oils and acrylic fine art entries from two states . . .") but rather the recruitment of a new bred of artists who have discovered self-expression in their hands and are finding creative encouragement by showing their works.

"It may be," she said, "a senior citizen who has found a hobby or a young person who got a start with a simple commercial craft kit. It has been our experience that the sincere crafts entrant always upgrades his talent each year. It's not too big a step from a woodcarver to a sculptor, from a novelty moulder to a ceramist.

"This is why," the local art chairman continued, "the Ellenville Art Council has always promoted crafts entries, particularly a young people's category, and permitted commission sales by both amateurs and professionals during the show. Creativity must have encouragement."

Complete facilities for both exhibitors and visitors during the 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. event in Ellenville's Liberty Square are being made available by the Women's Christian Temperance Union and the Public Library. Snow fencing for the hanging of paintings, graphics, and photography will be furnished at no charge and space for exhibitor-supplied tables and booths will be reserved for sculpture, crafts, and ceramics.

Free parking will be available in the Kriegertown Agway and Ellenville Savings Bank parking lots. Comfort facilities will be available during the day at the Ellenville municipal building.

Should She Just 'Forget' the Pill?

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: John and I have been married for 14 months. He had a 3-year-old son by a previous marriage. We had no trouble getting custody of the boy because his mother didn't want him. (She hasn't come to see him once.)

I am 29 and John is 35, and I want to have a child of our own. John's son, whom I honestly couldn't love more if I had given birth to him, would dearly love a little brother or sister, and I desperately want one, but John says no. His excuses are lame. ("The world is in such a sorry state, we shouldn't increase the population now. We have one healthy, normal child now, why press our luck?")

I am on the pill, and could conveniently "forget" to take it a few mornings, but I hate to be dishonest. If I were to get pregnant, he couldn't force me to have an abortion, and I'm sure that after the child was born he would grow to love it like he loves his son.

Please help me sort out my feelings, Abby.

TORN IN CHICAGO

DEAR TORN: Ideally, you and John should get some counseling together. Most clergymen are well equipped; also Chicago has many expert marriage counselors. If John refuses to go, you can't force him, but do go alone. You need some sound, objective counseling to help you resolve this knotty problem.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: A writer was unhappy about her flat chest and asked you whether breast implants were considered decitful and therefore sinful in the eyes of the Lord.

You suggested that she ask her clergyman for a ruling.

I disagree. Every clergyman cannot keep abreast of new developments in plastic surgery; some clergymen are big busts as advisors on these points.

The writer should look behind her breast — where her heart is — for the answer. Whom is she trying to deceive or please?

"Capping" one's teeth for cosmetic reasons has been an accepted practice for years. Are teeth more important to beauty than breasts?

BEVERLY HILLS M.D.

DEAR M.D.: Only to those who have trouble keeping their mouths shut.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO SHIRLEY: I agree. Something is wrong. Maybe he gave at the office.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Cal. 90212.

A Refreshing Invitation to Enjoyment

Here's a refreshing cooler to sip alone or enjoy with chunks of teriyaki grilled chicken and canned pineapple. Coolers are classic beverages to serve when the weather is warm or appetites need picking up. They come in many shapes, made with canned pineapple juice, sherbet and a frozen beverage mix. Gaily garnished with a bright berry-on-a-pick, it becomes an invitation to enjoyment.

Boned breast of chicken, cut in chunks and marinated in a simple teriyaki sauce, join chunks of canned pineapple on bamboo skewers. Grilled quickly over a few charcoal briquettes, they become delicious morsels to nibble along with Hawaiian Frost.

HAWAIIAN FROST is a delicious cooler made with canned pineapple juice, sherbet and a frozen beverage mix. Sip it alone or with an accompaniment of teriyaki grilled chicken and canned pineapple chunks. (Moss photography)

Hawaiian Frost

One (46 oz.) can unsweetened pineapple juice, chilled

One (6 oz.) can frozen mai-tai mix

One pint pineapple sherbet

Strawberries for decoration (optional)

Whirl on blender (or beat well) half the pineapple juice, mai-tai mix and sherbet at a time until forsty. Pour into large glasses. Decorate with a fresh strawberry on a pick, if desired. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

To prepare "teriyaki bites" shown in photograph: dip chunks of boned, skinned chicken breast and canned pineapple chunks in bottled teriyaki marinade. Insert on bamboo skewers and grill over charcoal, about 5 minutes.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE

YOU'VE BEEN A BRICK THROUGH IT ALL!

Dear Heloise:

How does one clean the brick on a fireplace that has been smoked?

Dumb Dora

I have been called that name more than once when I forgot to open the damper. So don't feel bad, love.

It has been a long time since I talked about this so I'm going to list some hints that have come in over the years:

Mickey Hood wrote that after working years with a commercial and residential cleaning firm, this is what he had learned about cleaning fireplaces:

"Most stores sell what is called art gum erasers that are ordinarily used to erase charcoal drawings.

"These erasers work especially well on porous rock fronts. On smoother stone or brick, after using the art gum and getting off all the smoke possible, wash it with a solution of tri-sodium phosphate, ½ cup to a gallon of water.

The way to use art gum is to knead it until it becomes pliable, and press on the smoked places. Knead in the soiled part and start again."

Folks, the eraser may seem to turn black in time, but it did not damage my brick fireplace.

Many people say they open their windows and pour pure bleach in a glass bowl and take their vegetable brush and scour away at the fireplace! By the time the bleach dries all those marks have left . . .

If you use this method, read the cautions on bleach bottles. It plainly says, "Keep out of reach of children." And "don't mix anything with bleach." Lots of products say the same thing today. So read "Joe Blow's" directions. He's sure smarter than we are.

And some other little hints for fireplaces . . .

Before you build your next fire, take some heavy-duty foil and line the hearth. Then all you will have to do is sprinkle some water on the ashes so they won't fly all over, and lift up the foil, and dump it in a box. No more precious time spent sweeping and cleaning.

It's also good to wet the inside of the paper bag or box you'll dump the ashes in.

In an extreme case, one woman used brick paint. Ask your paint dealer about it. It should be applied carefully and in a manner that will leave the mortar in its natural color.

And one day when your fireplace is roaring hot, toss a handful of table salt on it! You'll get the surprise of your life. I know you all will love the bright blue flames and, 'tis said by experts that this combination acts as a chimney sweep.

Be sure to watch for my next column. I'm going to teach you something else about fireplaces because I don't want you learning it the hard way as I did.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Recently my sister-in-law wanted to buy tie backs for her drapes.

She went to a discount store and bought 6 fancy chain belts (that you wear with dresses) for less than $1 a piece. She now has the best looking tie backs ever.

Sophie Hance

THIS COLUMN is written for you . . . the housewife and homemaker. If you have a hint or a problem write to Heloise in care of this newspaper. Because of the tremendous volume of mail, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will, however, answer your questions in her column whenever possible.

Speaker Named

Having studied with Tony Smith and William Baziotes, Mrs. Leslie later taught at the San Francisco Art Institute. He has had several one-man exhibitions at the Tibor de Nagy Gallery, the Martha Jackson Gallery, and the Goldowsky Gallery in New York City. Rocky's First Try Was an Upset Win

THE CHOICE
(UPI Telephoto)

By United Press International

In his first try for public office, Nelson Aldrich Rockefeller scored a political upset and became governor of New York in 1958 —when it still held the distinction of having more residents than any other state.

He won re-election to three more terms in an area almost as large as all six New England states and as heavily populated as all of neighboring Canada.

The energetic 66-year-old Rockefeller, a Baptist and heir to an oil and real estate fortune founded by his grandfather, resigned in December, 1973.

He said he wanted to devote his time to heading a panel to solve the nation's problems. Many felt he would use the commission as a platform to launch one more bid for the presidency.

With nearly 15 years of service as New York's chief executive, Rockefeller was the nation's senior governor when he stepped down. In his tenure, he made unsuccessful bids for his party's presidential nomination but compiled the longest term of service of any governor in the state's history, with the exception of George Clinton, New York's first governor who served 20 years.

The Rockefeller years officially began with his swearing in on Jan. 1, 1959, following his upset victory over then-Gov. Averell Harriman, a Democrat.

The major Rockefeller programs dealt with social welfare, education, the State University, highway construction, and new buildings.

Controversy also surrounded his name. During his tenure, New York liberalized its abortion laws and experienced the bloodiest penal uprising in modern U.S. history —Attica.

They also were years marked by quadrupled spending that began with Rockefeller's first proposed budget of $2.041 billion through this fiscal year's $8.881 billion spending proposal.

State government employment, which was about 90,000 when Rockefeller took office, has risen to about 185,000, including employes of quasi-governmental authorities and commissions.

In terms of magnitude and lasting impressions, Rockefeller's drive to create a powerful State University system will probably remain his greatest signature.

When Rockefeller took office, the system was a somewhat antiquated collection of "teacher and cow colleges" that has since been transformed into a 72-unit system with more than 235,000 full-time students.

Educational spending has risen from less than $650 million by the state to more than $2.8 billion in this fiscal year.

A vast interstate highway network, much of it paid for with federal funds, covers the major population centers of the state and is virtually complete except along the western Southern Tier.

Despite the successes, there have been setbacks. Early in his career, for example, Rockefeller pushed hard for Civil Defense and bomb shelters to protect against nuclear attack —an idea that never got off the ground.

He has had two major defeats on bond issues, most recently in the last election when he sponsored a $3.5 billion transit bond measure and it was soundly defeated. In 1971, voters rejected a similar $2.5 billion transit spending proposal.

Although a newcomer to state politics in 1958, Rockefeller defeated Democrat Harriman by more than 573,000 votes.

His original and somewhat stiff "Call Me Nelson" approach soon gave way to the familiar "hiya fella" wink-and-grin "Rocky" that proved a delight to political cartoonists and headline writers.

In 1962, Rockefeller turned back his first challenge, defeating Robert Morgenthau. In the 1966 campaign, Rockefeller soundly beat Frank O'Connor, and won his fourth term in 1970 by trouncing former U.S. Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg.

Byword for Wealth, Power

By United Press International

Nelson Aldrich Rockefeller bears one of the most famous names in the world —virtually a household word for wealth and power.

Rockefeller is an heir both to one of history's greatest fortunes and to one of the 20th century's great philanthropic traditions.

The "first" Rockefeller was John D., born the son of a small trader at Richford, N.Y., in 1839.

When he was 20 years old, the first American oil well was drilled in Titusville, Pa. Four years later, with capital raised through his lifelong habit of saving half his salary, no matter how small, young Rockefeller founded a company to enter the oil refining business.

His brother William joined the firm the year the Civil War ended. By 1867 the firm owned two refineries in Cleveland, Ohio —and in 1870 it was converted into a joint stock company and named the Standard Oil Company of Ohio, with John D. as its president.

In the wide-open days of lassez-faire capitalism and rapid industrial development, the Standard Oil Co. grew with amazing speed.

By 1892, 95 per cent of the nation's oil refinery business was under its sway.

Seven years later, the trust was replaced by a holding company —Standard Oil of New Jersey —as the result of an Ohio Supreme Court ruling that the old firm had violated the Sherman anti-trust act. In 1911 the U.S. Supreme Court declared the new company to be illegal.

John D. was in comfortable retirement by that time, however, and his main hobby was finding ways to distribute his colossal fortune. He set up a host of charitable organizations for this purpose, and conservative estimates say he gave away more than $530,000,000. He died at his home in Florida in 1937.

The Family... Before and After

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Nelson A. Rockefeller's private life can be divided roughly into two two parts—before and after his 1962 divorce, a major news event that may have ruined his chances.

Before the breakup of his 31-year marriage to the former Mary Todhunter Clark, the family often found itself in the limelight of publicity, culminating in the tragic loss of his son Michael and in his divorce.

But over the past 11 years, and reportedly on Rockefeller's orders, his second family—wife Margaretta "Happy" Rockefeller and their two small sons—has been shielded diligently from the prying eyes of the news media.

The two women shared somewhat similar backgrounds, both having been reared in the exclusive "Main Line" suburbs of Phildelphia and educated in select Eastern schools.

But Mary Rockefeller, heiress to a railroad fortune, joined willingly in the political activities of her husband. The second Mrs. Rockefeller, by contrast, has shied away from the party functions and political appearances that make up the day-to-day labors of a governor or vice president.

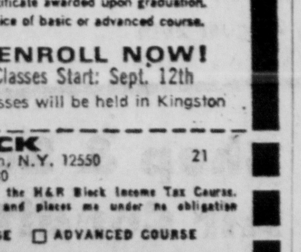

Rockefeller became engaged to Mary Clark in 1929 in his final year at Darmouth College, and they married in June 1930.

The couple had five children, including twins Mary and Michael, the youngest, born in 1938.

In 1961, Michael, an anthropology student, traveled to New Guinea to search for primitive art and sculpture. A native boat in which he and a Dutch companion were riding broke up in the waves off the southern coast and the 23-year-old Rockefeller disappeared.

Four months later, the Rockefellers were divorced in a court in Reno, Nev., on grounds of mental cruelty. After a brief announcement of the divorce, the governor never again spoke publicly of the affair, although it was later learned that he had initiated the estrangement.

Samuels Presents 'Rural Views'

By JON POWERS

RHINEBECK

Howard Samuels visited Rhinebeck and the Dutchess County Fair Tuesday, and used the occasion to air his views on topics that affect the Mid-Hudson region in particular and rural New York State in general.

Battling Rep. Hugh Carey for the right to represent the Democratic Party as its candidate for Governor against incumbent Republican Malcolm Wilson in November, Samuels first answered criticisms Tuesday that he has neglected upstate rural New York during his campaign in favor of urban areas where voters (particularly Democratic voters) are more plentiful.

"I've spent 50 of my 54 years in rural New York State, 25 of them on a farm," countered Samuels, "I'm very aware of the potential of rural upstate, and the potential that agriculture holds for the economy of this state."

He cited the need for increased agricultural research, the availability of low cost loans for farmers, and greater investment in the agricultural community. And then he added, "The Republican Party has been in control in this state for 16 years. Just look at the condition of our upstate rural farms now."

Speaking at a press conference in Rhinebeck before the fair opened Tuesday morning, Samuels also commented briefly on the proposed expansion of Stewart Airport in Newburgh and feared proliferation of nuclear power plants throughout the state.

The candidate suggested that consideration of Stewart Airport as a fourth major jetport for the metropolitan New York City region is a "dead issue." But he added that "Stewart is not a dead issue as a regional airport." He said he favors development of Stewart into a regional facility because "it offers tremendous potential for economic development" and because it would provide much-needed job opportunities in the Mid-Hudson region.

Samuels said also that he would prefer not to see a proliferation of nuclear power plants in the state, and suggested instead that research continue in the areas of solar and wind energy. At the same time, however, Samuels emphasized the need for America to reduce its dependance on oil-supplied energy.

The former chief of New York City's Off Track Betting Corp., Samuels also promised to work for improved mass transportation for the state's smaller cities and rural and suburban areas (He cited Poughkeepsie, specifically). "With all the problems of working people," said Samuels, "who can afford two cars anymore?"

Samuels spoke at length on what he referred to as "attacks" by his opponent in recent weeks. "Carey is attacking out of desperation because we're way ahead," and Samuels, "We'll win the primary despite the $500,000 that Carey has spent on television."

And, Samuels repeated campaign pledges to eliminate patronage jobs, called for a "full-time" legislature in Albany, and emphasized the need for more "human" programs and fewer building programs.

The Samuels press conference ended minutes before President Gerald R. Ford nominated former Governor Nelson Rockefeller for the vice-presidency. One of Samuels last comments Tuesday morning concerned the possibility of a Rockefeller nomination for the vice-presidency. "I didn't care very much for Rockefeller when he was governor," said Samuels, "and I'd care even less for him as vice-president. I hope President Ford doesn't select Rockefeller, because I'd like very much to continue my respect for the President."

Fine Day for the Fair

The lines and angles of carnival equipment are etched against Tuesday's sky on the opening day of the Dutchess County Fair. Officials report that more than 33,000 persons jammed the fairgrounds Tuesday; a crowd of close to 25,000 was expected to view hundreds of exhibits and displays at the Rhinebeck fairgrounds today. New York State's second largest county fair, this year's extravaganza is open every day through Sunday from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Dems Discuss Current Issues

By CARL GRAHAM

STONE RIDGE

Inflation, veterans, drugs and amnesty got most of the attention Tuesday night as three of four Democratic hopefuls for the 27th Congressional District seat discussed the issues on the campus of Ulster County Community College.

Although billed as a debate, the program actually consisted of opening statements by the candidates followed by questions from the audience answered by each candidate in turn with no confrontations between them. On hand were Michael Sloan of Binghamton, Matthew McHugh of Itaca and William Schechter of Lake Hill. Robert Kropp of Binghamton didn't make it.

Schechter, brown haired, conservatively dressed, and intense, comes on like a successful young business executive. In his opening statement he reviewed his 11 years with the Kennedy family in national politics and called himself "progressive on social issues, conservative on fiscal matters." He said there was a natural tendency to "take a vacation from our worries" but noted that many senior citizens must make do on severely limited incomes. Vietnam veterans are being turned away from Veterans Administration hospitals, and workers in many cases are taxed more than the corporation they work for. He called America "the only country in the world that does not provide adequate health care for its citizens."

McHugh, tall and also conservatively dressed, the most "establishment of the three in appearance, talks and looks like the lawyer he is. He referred to his experience as District Attorney of Tompkins County, said that public disillusionment and apathy goes beyond Richard Nixon and the Republican Party to touch each politician and all who care about good government, identified inflation and confidence in government as the most important issues, and called for reforms in campaign financing.

Sloan, with his light brown hair cut modishly long, suggests a young college professor. He was the only one to inject any humor into his remarks ("This is my first try for office. I'm not a lawyer, and my other habits are good, too"). He predicted that officials we elect will be a new breed, independent thinkers and obligated to no political group. He said he had not sought party endorsement, but would take it if offered. He said he prefers to concentrate on a grassroots campaign in the sprawling seven-county district, and identified inflation as the most pressing problem facing the country.

All three candidates said conditions faced by Vietnam veterans were a top priority area for improvement. On amnesty for Vietnam resisters, Sloan said he favored amnesty and would not support anything involving punishment. McHugh said he would accept an alternative service plan for draft resisters, with the men being given a choice of alternatives. Schechter called for conditional amnesty "only because Lieutenant Calley could be released if it is granted."

On possible reinstatement of the Wage Stabilization Act, McHugh said he had no objections to wage-price controls "but the public must be willing to accept them. I'd like to see several other steps tried first." Sloan suggested reestablishment of wage-price guidelines with fines for violators, "the oil industry in particular." Schechter said that "Nixon's wage freeze showed us that a control program can be effective."

All three called for large reductions in defense spending, with recall of troops from western Europe and elimination of many senior officers from the armed services and civilians from the Pentagon.

Asked for ways to overcome public apathy and the gap between Congress and the people, Schechter said: "I know of no other way to handle it except to work as hard as I can." McHugh: "Conduct a grassroots campaign instead of a media campaign and let the people know there is a candidate who cares about their problems." Sloan: "Require periodic meetings between Congressmen and their constituents. Also, an annual report by Congressmen, similar to a corporation report."

McHugh said he favored "discriminalization" of laws dealing with marijuana possession and rehabilitiation programs for heroin addicts. Sloan endorsed liberalization of marijuana laws, a massive drug education program in the schools, and a federal program for youth addicted to alcohol, "the Number One drug problem." Schechter praised the methadone program, which he called much misunderstood but effective.

Robert Brown, president-elect of Ulster County Community College ("I'm as new at this as I am at being a college president") served as moderator. Paul Cahill, chairman of Town of Rosendale Democrats handled arrangements for the meeting, held before about 50 persons in John Burroughs Hall. Robert Gannon served as timekeeper for candidate opening statements (five minutes) and responses to questions (two minutes).

Listen Veteran . . . Pension and Compensation

KINGSTON

What's the Difference? When it comes to pension and compensation there is a difference. Compensation is paid to a veteran to help compensate him for services-incurred injuries. On the other hand, pension is paid to permanently and totally disabled veterans for disabilities not traceable to war-time service. Both may be payable to veterans survivors. However, pensions, which are based on financial need, may be paid only if income does not exceed established income limitations.

Increased Payments — Some veterans receiving disability pensions from the VA may be eligible for an increase in their pension checks if they can furnish proof that they are housebound or are in constant need of someone to care for them. A veteran receiving non-service connected pension may be paid an additional $44 per month if his conditions requires him to be confined to his home or the immediate premises. If the veteran is blind, confined to a wheelchair or is considered to be bedfast the VA may pay an additional $110 per month "Aid and Attendandance" allowance. These amounts are paid to eligible veterans in addition to the regular amounts of pension to which they are entitled. Veterans receiving pension from the VA who feel they may be eligible for these increased benefits should visit Don Moore, State Veteran Counselor at the local counseling center of the New York State Division of Veterans' Affairs located at 300 Flatbush Avenue, UPO Box 527, Kingston, New York, 12401.

PLAYING FOR KEEPS—Bobby Murcer of the Yanks didn't accomplish what he set out to do—break up the double play—in the fifth inning of Tuesday night's game, but by sliding into Twin's shortstop Danny Thompson he forced the Minnesota infielder out of the game with spike wounds. Yanks won, 2-1. (UPI)

Hard Luck Is Common to Ryan

By United Press International

Hard luck is as common to Nolan Ryan as his fastball is unhittable to the rest of the American League.

The 27-year-old right-hander of the California Angels suffered a heartbreaking loss for the second time in two weeks Tuesday night when he was beaten 1-0 in 11 innings by the Detroit Tigers despite striking out 19 batters for the second time this season.

Ryan, who lost a game to the Chicago White Sox two weeks ago in which he pitched 8 1-3 innings of no-hit ball, outpitched Mickey Lolich Tuesday night but came out on the short end of the score when Bill Freehan lined a run-scoring single with two out in the top of the 11th inning.

The Angels, however, couldn't come through with the big hit against Lolich, who was in trouble often but came through in the clutch. The Angels had at least one baserunner in each of the first six innings, got a runner as far as third in the 10th and another to second in the 11th but failed to come up with a timely hit.

"Losses of that kind are always hard to take," said Ryan, who now has lost five games this season in which he has given up three runs or less. "It's not easy to sleep after something like that. I try to forget about the losses. There is only one thing on my mind and that's 20 wins. I try to block everything else out."

Ryan, who only last week equaled the major league record for most strikeouts in nine innings by fanning 19 against Boston, allowed only two hits and struck out 16 over the first nine innings but got into trouble after striking out his 19th batter in the 11th.

With two out Ben Oglivie singled, stole second and scored on Freehan's single to right.

Despite losing his 12th game in 29 decisions, Ryan broke his own major league record for most strikeouts in three successive games—44.

Lolich, winning his 15th game against 14 losses, said he wasn't aware of what Ryan was doing on the mound until he looked at the scoreboard after Ryan's 19th strikeout.

"I don't get pumped up as far as getting excited," said Lolich. "As a matter of fact, I didn't even know how many strikeouts he had until they flashed it on the board. That sort of thing gets you discouraged but with a matchup like this, of course I get up. I started getting my concentration together this afternoon. I got my game plan completely ready when I came to the park."

In other AL games, Boston whipped Chicago 8-3, New York nipped Minnesota 2-1, Kansas City blanked Cleveland 2-0, Baltimore edged Texas 2-1 and Oakland topped Milwaukee 7-1.

Red Sox 8, White Sox 3

Dick Drago notched his first complete game since July 8 and Rick Miller collected four hits as the Red Sox boosted their lead in the AL East to 5½ games. Drago scattered eight hits in raising his record to 6-7 while Stan Bahnsen suffered his 14th loss in 25 decisions.

Yankees 2, Twins 1

Pat Dobson scattered seven hits in outdueling Bert Blyleven as the Yankees nipped the Twins. Bobby Murcer walked in the second inning and scored the decisive run on an infield single and two successive errors. Craig Kusick had a homer for Minnesota.

Royals 2, Indians 0

Tony Solaita and Fran Healy hit fifth inning homers off Gaylord Perry and Lindy McDaniel turned in four innings of two-hit relief to spark the Royals' over the Indians. Al Fitzmorris went the first five innings for Kansas City to notch a career high ninth win against only three losses. The loss was Perry's seventh in eight decisions after winning 15 in a row.

Orioles 2, Rangers 1

Mike Cuellar tossed a five-hitter for his 15th win in pitching the Orioles over the Rangers. A run-scoring double by Brooks Robinson and a sacrifice fly by Mark Belanger in the second inning accounted for the Orioles' runs off Jackie Brown, who dropped his 10th game in 19 decisions.

A's 7, Brewers 1

Jim Hunter tossed a three-hitter for his 18th victory and batterymate Gene Tenace cracked a grand-slam homer to pace the A's over the Brewers. Tenace's second grand slam of the year highlighted a six-run eighth inning. Darrell Porter accounted for Milwaukee's only run with a homer.

Hitting HRs Has Drawbacks

By United Press International

Hitting home runs can have its drawbacks.

Los Angeles' Dave Lopes doubled his home run total for the season Tuesday when he blasted three shots, in addition to a double and a single, in the Dodgers' 18-8 rout of the Chicago Cubs and the 5-foot-9, 175 pound second baseman quickly paid the price.

After belting two of his homers and a double in his first three times at-bat, Lopes found his head being used as a target by reliever Dave LaRoche in the fourth inning. LaRoche was eventually pounded for 11 runs and 15 hits in 4 1-3 innings.

"Nobody is going to throw at my head and get away with it," vowed an angry Lopes after the game. "It was a deliberate attempt to hit me in the head. I've played against (Cub manager Jim) Marshall before and I know he uses those tactics. It's one thing to try and brush a player back but when you deliberately throw at his head, then that is uncalled for."

"Don Sutton, who pitched today, got fined $100 earlier this season for brushing back Doug Rader of Houston," recalled Dodger Manager Walt Alston. "Today, no umpire said anything to LaRoche. I can't believe it."

Lopes, refusing to be intimidated, promptly singled in the fourth and connected for his third homer in the sixth before the Cubs were able to get him out on an infield grounder in the seventh.

Lopes' five hits contributed to the Dodgers' 24-hit attack that also included homers by Jimmy Wynn, Steve Garvey and Willie Crawford. The six homers and 24 hits were the most for the Dodgers in one game since the team moved to Los Angeles from Brooklyn in 1958.

Thanks to his teammates' offensive support, Sutton, winless against the Cubs at Wrigley Field in five years, coasted to his 11th win as the Dodgers posted their second victory in a row after losing six straight. Sutton was replaced by Charlie Hough after seven innings because of the 95-degree heat and Hough was touched for a grand slam homer by Carmen Fanzone.

In other NL games, Cincinnati beat Philadelphia 7-1, San Francisco shaded Pittsburgh 8-7 in 10 innings, Atlanta topped St. Louis 8-6, Houston defeated New York 6-2 and San Diego shutout Montreal 3-0.

'Reds 7, Phils 1

Johnny Bench belted a three-run homer and Joe Morgan, who had two homers the night before, added a solo shot to power Cincinnati over Philadelphia and keep the Reds 2½ games behind first place Los Angeles in the West Division. Clay Kirby limited the Phils to five hits while racking up his eighth win against seven losses.

Giants 8, Pirates 7

Reliever Juan Pizarro, purchased from the Mexican League Monday, walked Bruce Miller with the bases loaded in the 10th inning to force in the winning run for San Francisco against Pittsburgh. The Giants, trailing 6-2, erupted for five runs in the top of the ninth with Miller's run-scoring single capping the rally but the Pirates tied the game in the bottom of the frame. The victory went to Mike Caldwell, 12-3, in relief.

Braves 8, Cardinals 6

Darrell Evans' two-run homer and triple and three hits apiece by Henry Aaron and Marty Perez led Atlanta past St. Louis. Perez' homer capped a four-run second inning for the Braves. St. Louis' Lou Brock stole his 85th base, moving him to within 19 of Maury Wills' single season record of 104 set in 1962.

Astros 6, Mets 2

Lee May slammed his 19th homer to spark a 12-hit attack and James Rodney Richard, with relief help from Mike Cosgrove, recorded his first victory of the season in Houston's win over New York. Bob Watson singled home Roger Metzger in the fifth inning to snap a 2-2 tie.

Padres 3, Expos 0

Willie McCovey smacked a three-run homer and rookie Dave Freisleben tossed a three-hitter to lead San Diego past Montreal. McCovey's 19th homer came in the fourth inning after Dave Hilton led off with a single and Johnny Grubb walked. McCovey's blast was his seventh homer in his last 12 games.

Giants' Doctor Had Become 'Unfortunately Involved'

NEW YORK (UPI) — The smoke of a pro football gambling scandal showed again on Tuesday, but this time there was a tip of flame as well.

A Manhattan Grand Jury indicted two known gamblers, both of whom were reportedly connected with crime syndicates, but added the shocker that the physician for the New York Giants was involved, although not indicted.

Dr. Anthony Pisani, who resigned as team doctor of the National Football League club after serving the Giants for 10 years, was cited in the first charge of the 40-count indictment of Thomas Musto and Michael Astarita.

The indictment alleges that Musto, 64, of New York, and Astarita, 47, of Hillsdale, N.J. handled more than a $1 million in illegal pro football wagerings, and that the two conspired with Dr. Pisani, who was to supply them information on the physical condition of Giant personnel, with distinct mention in the indictment of fullback Ron Johnson, defensive back Carl Lockhart, lineman John Mendenhall, and "other offensive and defensive players of said National Football League team."

A league spokesman would only say that the NFL had been aware of the N.Y. City police investigation for some time, but had been unable to help in the probe.

Greg Perrin, Dr. Pisani's attorney, declared his client innocent of any wrong doing, but that he had become "unfortunately involved though his aquaintance with Musto and Astarita, who were his patients for a period of years."

DR. ANTHONY PISANI

District Attorney Richard Kuh declined to comment on the failure of the indictment to cite Dr. Pisani. Kuh said "it is not the practice of this office to go beyond the scope of the indictment".

Dr. Pisani is a noted orthopedic man, particularly in the treatment of damaged knees. His techniques have been studied and used by other orthopedists, including some team physicians.

In the charges against Musto and Astarita, the jury said that "on or about Oct. 12, 1973, Thomas Musto refused to discuss the football line with a certain individual, stating 'I want to speak to the doctor first to find out what he knows about injuries.'"

Musto was reportedly a "soldier" in the Vito Genovese crime family, while Astarita was associated with the late Thomas "Tommy Ryan" Eboli."

Other clubs in the National Football League believe it can't happen to them.

NFL owners, alerted by the latest scandal which came about when the New York Giants former team surgeon was found to have passed information on player injuries to known gamblers, issued assurances Tuesday that their security systems are designed to prevent such occurences.

"Every member of the San Francisco 49ers is aware of the National Football League rules with regard to gambling," said club president Lou Spadia. "Notice of these rules is posted prominently in all of our facilities and I feel certain the rules are adhered to by every member of the 49ers organization."

The Oakland Raiders refused to divulge how their security system works, fearing this information would make their precautions obsolete.

Webster Suffers Heart Attack

ELIZABETH, N.J. (UPI)— Former New York Giants football coach Alex Webster is in guarded condition in St. Elizabeth's Hospital following an apparent heart attack.

Webster, 44, of Sea Girt was taken to the hospital here Tuesday and placed in the intensive care unit following an apparent heart seizure earlier in the day.

Webster resigned from the Giants last year, after serving five years as the club's head coach. He was a star player with the Giants from 1955 to 1964, and played college ball at North Carolina State.

A Charge of Union Busting

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Ed Garvey, executive director of the National Football League Player's Association, has accused the NFL owners of failing to take a serious part in negotiations with striking veteran players.

Garvey Tuesday accused the owners of trying to "bust this union".

"The time has come for the owners to do something. They've done nothing since March 16 except cut off the veterans' group health insurance and try to induce players back into camp."

The executive committee of NFLPA expressed outrage over the Philadelphia Eagles' ouster of Kermit Alexander when he reported to camp.

"If their answer to our cooling off period is to get Kermit Alexander out of the league and attack our leadership, this is going to be a long strike," Garvey said.

The committee threatened to remove striking veterans from training camp facilities at the end of the 14-day cooling off period next Wednesday.

"We've got enough strength to go back in and come on back out—the players know the strength of their union is at stake," Garvey said.

Garvey, a Minneapolis attorney, issued the players' "bottom line" offer, a package which insists players be given a say about where they are traded and whether they want to cancel their contracts if they are put on waivers. It also asks for neutral arbitration of grievances.

Financial arrangements in the offer request that a cost of living increase since 1970 as computed by the consumer price index of the U.S. Department of Labor be added to the contract.

Garvey called the offer "so reasonable that no owner can now be saying we're out to destroy pro football.

"Giving the players a say in trading isn't going to ruin football. It means changing the relationship so that people talk to one another, so that the employer doesn't look at the employe as a piece of property."

The NFLPA offer additionally agreed to leave further action regarding compensation or the so-called Rozelle Rule to resolution in the court and agreed to leave jurisdiction over matters affecting integrity of the game in the hands of the NFL commissioner. The offer agreed to revise the standard player contract within one year.

Minnesota Vikings player representative Alan Page, one of the few veterans who has not reported to camp, said, "We would like to get this dispute setteld but we're not about to get an agreement we can't live with shoved down our throats.

"Whatever happens, this association is not going to fold up and go away. We're going to have to be dealt with."

Westchester $ Lures Top Pros

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — New fathers Johnny Miller and Hale Irwin, two of the young men who have dominated the pro tour this year, have called an end to their summer vacations and will return to action this week in the $250,000 Westchester Classic.

The 72-hole chase for a $50,000 first prize has lured one of the strongest fields of the year to the 6,814-yard, par-72 Westchester Country Club course in suburban New York.

The lineup includes Jack Nicklaus, defending champion Bobby Nichols, Gary Player, Arnold Palmer, Tom Weiskopf, Hubert Green and Dave Stockton.

Major absentees for the Thursday start of this event are Lee Trevino, No. 10 money-winner Rod Curl, former champion Julius Boros, John Schlee and Forrest Fezler.

Trevino rarely plays well on this hilly, heavily-wooded course and is taking a break. Curl, who won the Colonial National, withdrew because of continued trouble with tendonitis in his left hand.

Miller, the season's leading money-winner and holder of five 1974 titles, and Irwin, who won the U.S. Open championship at nearby Winged Foot, both have acquired new offspring.

Miller has played but once in this country since the U.S. Open and Irwin hasn't competed in seven weeks. While their credentials are among the best on the tour this year, their long absences make them something less than the top choices.

In fact, a clear-cut favorite is almost impossible to determine. The strength of the field, the season-long tendency for obscure longshots to come through and Nicklaus' failure to exert his usual dominance all help make it a wide-open race.

FREEMAN ADS BRING RESULTS

Canfield's: Swing Flag

KINGSTON — Canfield's clinched the penant in the City Slo Pitch Swing Division Tuesday night, and it didn't even play. Stephens Foxhall the only team which had a mathematical shot at the leader, was overpowered, 13-8 by Hess Gasoline and fell into a tie for second.

In other results, Sea Deli moved into a tie with Stephens Foxhall by downing Jeff's Place, 12-9; Elmendorf Bros. lost to Aqua Wash, 11-10 but still remained in fourth by percentage points over Hess; Callanans stopped Orange County Plumbing, 9-2; and the Children's Home battered Mahoney's, 18-10.

Home runs powered Hess to its seventh win as it remained alive in the playoff derby. Tim Garvin blasted his eighth, Gary Miller hit his first, and John Watzka slammed his seventh and drove in three runs.

Ed Van Horn and Harry Faye cracked three hits apiece to spark Sea Deli's victory. George Tacktikos had things well in hand until the sixth when Jeff's reached him for six runs, but he hung on to get the win. George Olsen had two triples for the losers.

Aqua Wash jumped out to a 6-0 lead in the first inning and staged a four-run rally in the bottom of the sixth to seal the win. Babe Whittaker had three of the winner's 14 hits while Charlie Howell clubbed his fourth homer for Elmendorf's.

Dennis Klonowski singled twice hit his second homer and drove in two runs to lift Callanans to 4-5. Larry Clearwater scattered seven hits for the victory. The Plumbers lost their seventh against two wins.

Dennis McCann and Tom Nace each hit home runs, and Bob Cangno, Rod Chando and Lee Taylor had four hits apiece as the Children's Home erupted for 26 hits against two Mahoney's pitchers. Joe McDonald of Mahoney's led the RBI parade with five, but McCann had four and Bill Widholm drove in three for the Home.

Illinois Bars NCAA Appeal

URBANA, Ill. (UPI) — The University of Illinois will not appeal the NCAA's decision to place the school's basketball team on probation for two years, Athletic Director Cecil Coleman said Tuesday.

The penalty was imposed for recruiting violations and the granting of special favors to athletes. The Illini basketball squad will not be allowed to participate in any post-season tournaments for one year and will be barred from appearing on national television for one year. In addition, the university can provide only three new basketball scholarships in the next two academic years instead of the usual six.

"We think we've had a fair and honest hearing and we will not cry about the penalty. We are not going to appeal," Coleman said Tuesday.

Newly appointed Illini basketball Coach Gene Bartow said he did not feel the penalties would hurt the team's progress.

LL Pitchers Unmoved By Brilliant Stints

By BOB WARNER
Associated Press Writer

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — The winning pitchers in the opening games of the Little League World Series, including one who tossed a one-hitter, said they were not overwhelmed by their twin shutouts.

Right-hander Bob Trauger, a 12-year-old from Tallmadge, Ohio, gave up seven singles Tuesday in his 8-0 win over Athens, Greece, the European champions. The team is composed of children of American military and diplomatic personnel.

"They were hitting me pretty good," he said after the game.

Lin Wen-Hsiung, another 12-year-old, pitched the one-hitter to lead Kao Hsiung, Taiwan, to a 16-0 victory over New Haven, Conn.

Lin gave up three walks, blaming them on nervousness. Despite giving up only the one hit, he said he hoped to do better in the next game.

For Taiwan's remaining opponents in the 28th annual series, that can mean only bad news. Teams from the Asian island have won three straight Little League titles, and after Tuesday's game the islanders are favorites again this year.

Lin and three teammates each smacked home runs to lead Taiwan's 10-hit attack. They racked up 10 runs in

Blazers Worrying About the Move

BY JOE CARNICELLI
UPI Sports Writer

Coach Jack Pardee's Florida Blazers lead the World Football League East and face the winless Portland Storm tonight. But Pardee is worried.

"We're thinking of everything but playing football," Pardee complained. "We don't know our game plans. Nobody is asking about Portland. All you hear about is the possible move."

The "move" the former star linebacker referred to is the story circulated out of Orlando all week that the Blazers were having money problems and might be forced to move. The club was one of the last established in the league, starting first in Washington and then moving to Virginia and finally to Orlando before playing a game.

Less than 11,000 fans attended the first two games in the Tangerine Bowl and a game against Florida rival Jacksonville finally brought out 24,000 last week after an appeal by Rommie Loudd, the Blazers' managing general partner.

"The problem is simple," Loudd said. "If we had 29,000 at every game, a full house, it would solve all our problems. We wouldn't have to move away. Getting a million dollars now wouldn't assure anyone the team would stay here in the future. Like I said, the turnstiles will be our best avenue of revenue."

Loudd was talking with a group of Atlanta investors about moving the club there but that fell through when Georgia Tech officials refused to allow the WFL to use its field.

On the field, the Blazers, with Bob Davis at the controls, are 5-1 and hold a one-game edge over New York. Portland has had its problems offensively, scoring only 76 points, second lowest figure in the league, and allowing 156, the third highest total. But Coach Dick Coury feels the club, which has managed only one tie in six games, may be coming around.

"We're finally thinking football," Coury said. "This may be the difference in eliminating the little mistakes that have cost us a number of football games. This is the players' profession and they should think it all the time. It looks like we're starting to do that now."

In other WFL games tonight, Birmingham is at Jacksonville, the Hawaiians at Memphis, Southern California at Philadelphia and Houston at New York. Chicago is at Detroit Thursday night in the national television game.

Unbeaten Birmingham, the highest scoring team in the league, attempts to run its winning streak to seven games against a Jacksonville club that has had quarterback problems.

Donut Mix Gains Tie

OLIVE

A pair of pressure-packed wins, including one big come-from-behind effort, have enabled Donut Mix to move into a first place tie with Dial Barber and Beauty Shop in the Olive Softball League's Eastern Division.

Landmark Restaurant, meanwhile, has clinched the flag in the Western Division with 8-6 and 21-4 wins over Giuliano Excavating.

Donut Mix and Dial, both with 7-4 records, will meet in the final game of the season to determine Landmark's foe in the post-season playoffs.

To reach the position for the tie, Donut first knocked off Dial, 10-1, as John Stelson knocked in four runs with two singles, a triple, and a home run. Mike Giuliano homered for Dial.

The Donut squad then shook off a 5-0 deficit to rally over Tetta's General Store, 14-12. In that one, Charlie Groeters homered twice, and Fred Tetta, Mark Hydleburg, and Jerry Malek once each for the losers, but Donut Mix got five runs batted in by Tom Kuriger, who doubled three times, to highlight its rally.

Landmark had to break a 6-6 tie in the seventh inning of one game with Giuliano, but cracked 35 hits in the other to win in a breeze. John Lindvay, Bruce Greene, and Bruce Ruffner homered in the first game for Landmark, while in the second, Ruffner did it again, this time joined by Jack Blanchard.

The big hitters in the 35-hit barrage were Greene with six-for-six, and Lloyd Humphrey, Bill Kassor, and Ruffner with four safeties apiece.

Rosners Forced Into Playoff

SAUGERTIES

Needing two wins to clinch the pennant, Rosner's Oasis could do no better than a split and was forced into pennant playoff with Eveready Beverages in the C Division of the Saugerties Softball Legue. The teams finished with 9-4 records and will play a single game to determine the regular season champion.

The Oasis unloaded 22 hits to crush Sperl Pakkers 29-2 in their first game, but Les Hauck (6-3) of Mark IV Printing checked them on five hits 5-2 to create the tie with Eveready.

First round playoff matchups are: Pepperidge Farms vs. Sperl Pakkers and Mark IV Printing vs. Gunjah Warriors. The top two teams draw a first round bye then play winners of the first round.

In other action, Ed Himberger of Pepperidge Farms, who no-hit Gunjah Warriors in July, limited them to one hit this time around for a 10-0 stopped in five innings.

Skip Tyler knocked in four runs with two doubles and two singles against the Pakkers. Arnie Hackett had three hits, Butch Myers added a single, double and homer for three ribbies, matched by Bob Vanderbeck and Vic Tummillo.

The Hauck brothers were too much for Rosner's. Les pitched a 5-hitter and blanked them until the seventh. Lars, the catcher, knocked in all five runs with a two-run homer in the third and a three-run shot in the seventh.

Steve Thornton knocked in four runs for Pepperidge with a homer and single. Billy Maines had a two-run homer.

NY-Penn Flag to Oneonta

ONEONTA

The Oneonta Yankees, managed by Kingston-native Mike Ferraro, clinched the Class A New York-Penn League pennant Tuesday night when they defeated the Batavia Trojans, 7-4, while the second place Auburn Phillies were losing to the Elmira Pioneers, 6-4.

Oneonta now has a record of 45-14 with 11 games to play. Auburn is 31-26 with 13 games to play. Even if the Yankees lose all their remaining games and Auburn wins its contest — an unlikely prospect — the Phillies would still fall one win short of first place.

It is Oneonta's third flag in eight years.

Ferraro's Oneonta squad lost its first two games of the season. Since then it has been the power of the league, winning 45 of 57 and pulling away from all comers.

In Tuesday night's clincher, Fred Anyzeski pitched an erratic eight-hitter to up his record to 9-1, best in the league. He struck out 12 and walked five in giving up only one earned run. His ERA is a glossy 1.60.

Dave Bergman's 10th homer of the season sparked the Yankees, who got a pair of runs batted in from Bruce Carter.

Connors Got His Way...Again

By The Associated Press

Wimbledon champion Jimmy Connors usually gets his way on the tennis court, and Tuesday was no exception.

After threatening to withdraw from the Eastern Lawn Tennis Open at South Orange, N. J., unless the number of officials was increased for his first-round match, the top-seeded Connors polished off unranked Scott Carnahan in straight sets, 7-6, 6-4.

In the second game of the second set, Connors demanded that Carnahan be given credit for an ace that had been called long. Three volleys later, Carnahan attempted to return the favor but head umpire Ted Reed refused.

After the first point was played in the third game, both men started to walk off the court. Connors shouted at Reed, "Either you get linesmen on all the lines, or I quit."

After an argument, a 20-minute intermission and a conference, two extra line judges were brought out.

Carnahan defended Connors' action as justified, saying, "He's not being an ogre this time."

The No. 2 seed in the $50,000 event, Alex Metreveli of the Soviet Union, also won his first-round match Tueaday. Metreveli started slowly but then rallied to beat Manuel Santana, the 35-year-old Spaniard, 4-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Elsewhere, all the top seeds won their first-round matches Tuesday in the 47th U.S. Professional Tennis Championship at the Longwood Cricket Club in Brookline, Mass.

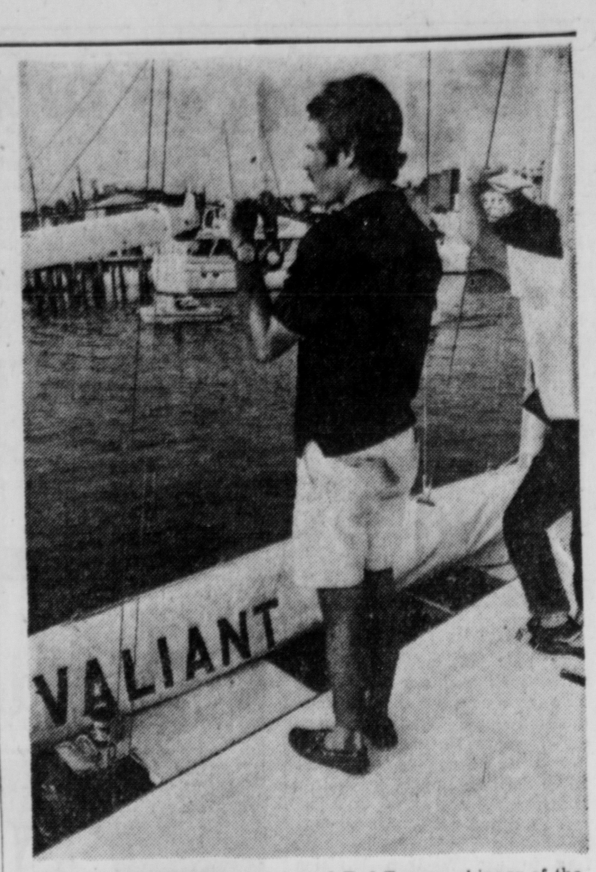

Stan Smith, Tom Okker, Guillermo Vilas, Manuel Orantes, Marty Riessen and Jan Kodes all advanced.

Vilas, making his debut in this tourney, has been the hottest player on the Association of Tennis Professionals summer circuit. The sixth-seeed Argentine breezed past Canada's Mike Belkin.

Top-seeded Smith had little trouble defeating Australia's Ross Case, but Okker, the No. 2 seed, needed a first-set tiebreaker to overcome 46-year-old Torben Ulrich, 7-6, 6-4.

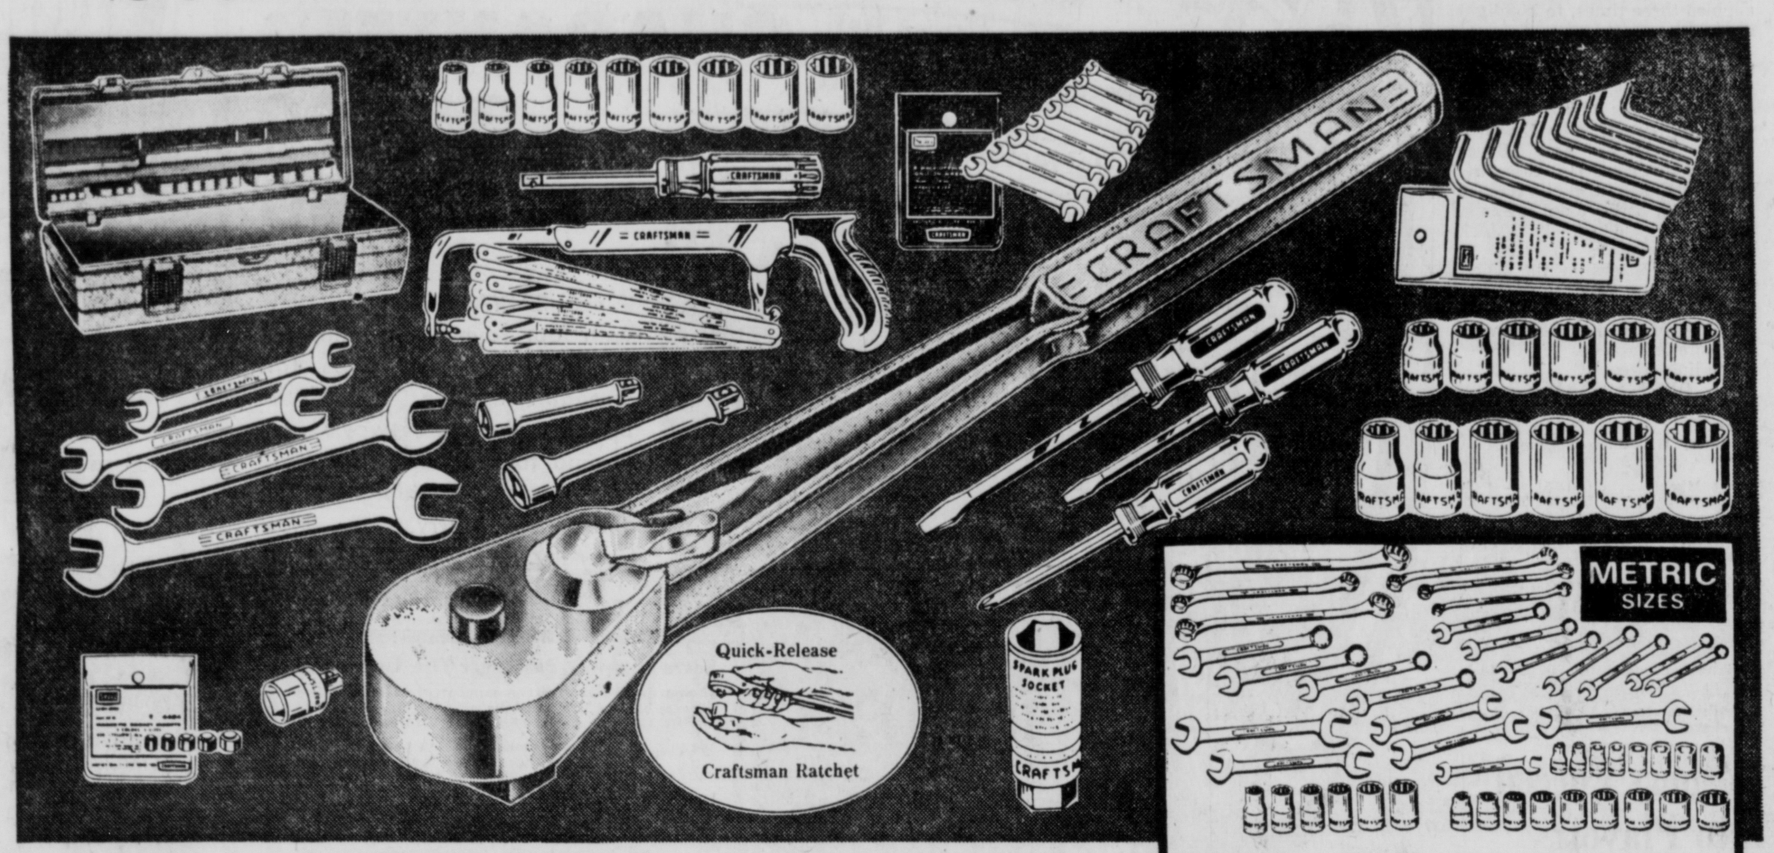

At the $30,000 Women's Grass Court Championships at the Newport Casino in Newport, R.I., Chris Evert breezed to her 48th consecutive victory, a 6-0, 6-1 decision over Kristy Pigeon.

"The grass was perfect and I didn't get a bad bounce all day," said Miss Evert.

HOMER SMITH . . . ARMY COACH

Several Key Players to Miss Army Workouts

WEST POINT — Army launches on-the-field preparations for the 1974 football campaign this week, but some of the key personnel who figured so prominently in pre-season plans will be among the missing during the first few weeks of work.

The Cadets, building hopes for the coming season around a new head coach Homer Smith and a whole new look both offensively and defensively, open practice sessions Thursday morning in the first of three two-a-day workouts in sweats only. They'll move to nearby Camp Buckner Monday for a solid week of drills in full gear.

While 25 lettermen are eligible to return for the 1974 schedule, not all of them are expected to report this week, nor will others be available for work immediately. Two monogram winners already have been ruled out for the entire season, another is listed as doubtful, and still two others will require time before they can contribute at full capacity.

A pair of juniors who were starters a year ago will miss all of the '74 season. Guard Bernie Wrezinski of Beloit, Wis. recently underwent enzyme therapy for a ruptured disc in the lower back, and will not be allowed to play this fall. A knee problem likewise will eliminate defensive halfback Steve McAnally of Florence, Ala. from any playing consideration this year.

What looms as the biggest blow to the Cadets is the possible loss of captain Bob Johnson of Memphis, Tenn., for the season. Johnson, a two-year starter at defensive end, is the first black to be elected captain of the Army football team in its 84-year-history. He underwent surgery earlier this summer for removal of a lesion in the upper part of his right arm and his playing status this fall remains very much in doubt.

Two junior running backs who figured to see yeoman duty in the offensive backfield will be late in making '74 debuts. Brad Dodrill of Mt. Gilead, Ohio, who finished spring drills as the top candidate for the fullback job, fractured a foot during summer leave and is not expected to begin workouts until next month. Halfback Dan Spangler of Sidney, Ohio, second leading rusher on last year's team, still is on the mend from off-season knee surgery and will be watched very closely during the next several weeks.

All the news is not bad for Coach Smith, however. Two offensive linemen who knew starting responsibility a year ago but who were quite limited in workouts during the spring have passed physical examinations and will operate full-go during drills this week. They are senior tackle Neil Begley of East Northport, N.Y. who has been a starter in each of the previous two campaigns, a junior letterman John Gallagher of Piqua, Ohio, fully recovered from a spring bout of monomucleosis and now a prime candidate for a starting guard berth.

The search of a highly qualified quarterback has narrowed down to two candidates. One is speedster Gerg McGlasker of Mobile, Ala.; the other, junior letterman Scott Gillogly of East Aurora, N. Y., a starter at defensive safety in 1973. Both enjoyed fine springs and will continue the intense duel they staged during that pre-season period.

Tickets Available

WEST POINT — Season tickets for Army's 1974 six-game home football schedule this fall are still available to the general public. Season tickets are priced at $39.00 and include an option to purchase tickets to the annual Army-Navy classic Nov. 30 in Philadelphia, Pa.

The Cadets open their 85th season of intercollegiate football with a new coach and new hopes. The new coach is Homer Smith, a Princeton graduate who comes to West Point with a solid set of credentials. Most recently, he served two years as offensive coordinator at UCLA, where he was directly responsible for building an offense that shattered Pacific 8 records and propelled the Bruins into the national limelight statistically.

The Army mentor likewise will add a new look in Army's style of play. Homer Smith helped perfect the Wishbone-T while at UCLA, and has installed much of that system here at West Point. The defense also will display a different look with a 5-2 alignment in place of the 4-4 of recent years.

Hoping to end the frustration of a 0-10 record a year ago, the Cadets open the 1974 campaign on Sept. 14 against Lafayette College at Michie Stadium. Other home opponents include Tulane, Sept. 21; Penn State, Oct. 5; Holy Cross, Oct. 26; Vanderbilt, Nov. 2 and Air Force, Nov. 9.

Single game tickets also are available for all six home games and the Army-Navy game in Philadelphia. Single game tickets for the Lafayette, Tulane and Vanderbilt encounters are priced at $6.00 while tickets for the Penn State, Holy Cross and Air Force games are priced at $7.00.

Army football tickets may be purchased from: Ticket Office, Army Athletic Association, West Point, N.Y. 10996. (Phone: 914-938-2526). All ticket orders must include 50 cents for handling.

Tickets also may be purchased through all Ticketron outlets for all home games and the Army-Navy game.

Erroll Garner At Raceway

MONTICELLO — Erroll Garner, one of the country's premier jazz pianists, comes to Monticello Raceway for six straight nights starting next Monday.

A prolific composer, Garner has more than 200 works to his credit. Some of his best known compositions are "Misty", "Dreamy", "Solitaire", "Dreamstreet" and "Moon Island."

"Feeling is Believing" is the title tune of a Garner album which was voted the best jazz piano album of 1970 by the International Critics Poll of Jazz and Pop Magazine.

Garner recorded "Misty" for special use in the Clint Eastwood film, "Play Misty for Me." His composition inspired the movie's title.

The 47-year-old musician is the recipient of many international music awards and honors including the Grand Prix du Disque from the French Academy of Arts. French critics dubbed him "The Man with 40 Fingers." A tape of his work has been buried in a time capsule at the Theater of the Comedie Francaise in Paris.

Considered the most durable maverick in the history of the recording industry, Garner's albums have been topping the sales charts for the past 25 years. His "Concert by the Sea" is one of the all-time best sellers.

(Garner will be at the Raceway from Monday, Aug. 25, through Saturday, Aug. 31. As usual, there is only the normal admission charge, and a full card of harness races will follow).

A native of Pittsburgh, Garner is musically self-taught and has always played by ear, since the age of three when he began to copy on the piano the tunes his mother played on the phonograph. Brief attempts to read music were foiled by his remarkable ear; Garner memorized everything at one hearing, and luckily for his future, resisted a teacher's efforts to impose formal "reading" of music.

At seven, he began appearing regularly over station KDKA in Pittsburgh with a group called the Candy Kids. By the time he was eleven, he was substituting for pianists on riverboats on the Allegheny. In his early teens he began a variety of jobs in and around Pittsburgh in taverns, nightclubs and restaurants, usually performing solo. During this period the unique "Garner Style" began to develop and his piano technique started to acquire its startling polish and fluency.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Everything should go reasonably well until this evening. Then you'll have to be on guard in dealing with others socially.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Make it a point to be extra-thoughtful where your mate is concerned or hurt feelings will result. Don't forget anniversaries or special events.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Try to finish any tasks that are important as early in the day as possible. Your attention span wanes toward afternoon.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Keep a tight control over your spending habits at this time. If you don't, your spurts of extravagance will lighten your wallet considerably.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You will not find the warm reception you're hoping for if you bring home some unexpected guests without first telling your mate.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You're going to dilute a plan you've worked out in a logical fashion with some impractical twists. They'll reduce its effectiveness.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You are apt to be a trifle too generous with a friend in order to make points. Later you will feel you acted foolishly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) It won't become you if you put on false airs and act aloof around people to whom you feel a bit superior.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 Dec. 21) The easy outs you're looking for at this time will prove to be the hardest rows to hoe.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be careful when talking to a friend about another friend. What you say will be repeated. The party you criticized will be offended.

AQUARIUS (Jan 20-Feb. 19) Some ground is going to be lost regarding a goal you're now pursuing. You're to indecisive about your course of action.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You'd best follow through on something you've discussed in detail with another and promised to take care of. Excuses won't do.

This year will see a marked improvement in your basic standard of living. More funds will be available. One precaution: You mustn't be extravagant.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

MARRIED MAN. (Q.) I am 19 and work as a secretary in a small industrial company. I am in love with one of the foremen and pregnant by him.

He is married and has three kids but told me he loved me and I believed him. Now he will hardly say good morning to me.

Should I tell him I am pregnant or not? He doesn't know. —Frozen Out in Florida

(A.) This man gave you the business. You could probably give him a lot of trouble, but don't, because you would be hurt more than you already have been. Tell him the facts. (He may already suspect or know.) Do not expect any help from him.

If there is none, which I predict, make your own arrangements for the future. You are not too old to go to your parents and ask them to help you.

Other girls should benefit from reading your story. You should benefit from living it. DON'T repeat it.

TRIP TO PARK: (Q.) We want to go to this amusement park and spend the day. There would be five girls. The driver is 18. I am 15 and have never given my mother any trouble, but she doesn't want me to go. She says she will take your advice. It's about 50 miles there and 50 miles back.—Trustworthy in Connecticut.

(A.) My feeling is that if ALL the girls, especially the driver, are trustworthy, and if you are coming home before dark, the plan is reasonable. But if your mother thinks it is unreasonable, she should say no.

Holmes and Watson did not distinguish themselves in their bidding of the last hand in the Gooden-Thomas book. Seven diamonds the best final contract makes easily while seven hearts and seven notrump would make against a 3-2 heart break. Suits break 3-2 some 68 per cent of the time at the table although they tend to break badly in bridge books.

Perhaps if Watson had rebid to four diamonds over Holmes three hearts the great detective might have found some way to get Watson to the diamonds grand slam.

Or when Watson makde the rather peculiar bid of five spades Holmes could have bid six clubs whereupon Watson could surely have gone to seven diamonds. Anyway Holmes found himself at six hearts. He won the spade lead and studied the whole hand before playing to the next trick.

There wasn't much study needed. If trumps broke 3-2 he had 14 top tricks. Suppose they broke 4-1. The contract was six hearts. It wans't important to make an overtrick and Holmes decided to play safe.

At trick two he led a low heart from his hand. East won that trick but could do nothing to keep Holmes from drawing trumps and making his slam.

Alleged Bomber Seized in LA

KURBEGOVIC (L) IN CUSTODY (UPI Telephoto)

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Police Tuesday captured the alleged "Alphabet Bomber" who claimed responsibility for the deadliest civil airport bombing in U.S. history and had threatened a wave of terror.

Assistant Police Chief Daryl Gates identified the suspect as Muharem Kurbegovic, 31, a Yugoslav who entered the United States in 1967.

Gates and William Morrison, assistant FBI director in charge of the Los Angeles office, said Kurbegovic was allegedly the "Isaac Rasim" who had left at least two bombs. They said he would be charged with murder in the explosion at Los Angeles International Airport which killed three persons and injured 35 on Aug. 6.

The other bomb was left in the Greyhound bus terminal last Friday, but was found — on a tip from "Rasim" — by the bomb squad and removed. The detonator went off in a bomb squad truck but the bomb itself did not explode.

Gates said Kurbegovic had entered the United States legally and had a previous arrest for a sex offense. The nature of the offense was not revealed.

Kurbegovic was arrested in the men's room of a restaurant in Hollywood by police officers, acting on clues contained in one of the cassette tape recordings by which "Rasim" communicated his demands, Gates said. He said Kurbegovic had been under surveillance for some hours and at one point deposited a taped message, which was recovered and the voice on the tape was found to be the same as the voice on the "Rasim" tapes.

The bomb squad, with explosives-sniffing dogs, was reported going over Kurbegovic's Hollywood apartment, hunting more bombs and bomb-making materials.

Kurbegovic was described as 5-feet-11 and weighing about 200 pounds.

The FBI said he also would be charged with destruction of an airport, a federal offense carrying a possible life term in prison.

The voice on the tapes had identified himself as "Military Commander of the Aliens of America," and was given the name "Alphabet Bomber" because he threatened to "write our name in blood across the face of America."

The airport bomb stood for "A," the first letter in the group's name, the taped voice said, and the Greyhound bomb was in a locker standing for "L," and also for "Life" because he sent a warning where it could be found.

"Rasim" had demanded repeal of all federal immigration and naturalization laws, all sex laws, greater separation between church and state and punishment for two police officers, now retired, who killed two Mexican illegal aliens by mistake during a raid several years ago, and were subsequently cleared of wrongdoing.

House Gives President a Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a victory for President Ford, the House has voted to cut a $20 billion mass transit bill to the $11 billion he requested.

The House passed the bill Tuesday 324 to 92, after the funding authorization was reduced by a 257-155 vote.

The bill would authorize the first federal operating subsidies to hard-pinched mass transit systems, as well as money for buying new equipment.

Similar bills are pending in the Senate.

Ford consistently had opposed operating subsidies as a congressman but told mayors during his first days in office last week that he would take a broader view as President.

However, he warned the House through his congressional supporters that he wanted the bill cut nearly in half to help him reduce the federal budget and thereby fight inflation.

When Democrats tried to keep funding at the $15.8 billion level, Republicans led by Rep. William H. Harsha, R-Ohio, offered the lower figure and the House accepted it.

The House also deleted a section of the bill which the American Automobile Association said was a long-sought goal of the trucking industry: To permit heavier and longer trucks on the nation's highways.

The amendment to knock it off the bill, offered by Rep. Edward I. Koch, D-N.Y., passed 259 to 159.

Supporters of the original proposal argued it was to compensate for trucks being penalized by federally imposed speed limits of 55 miles per hour.

Mass transit funds would be allocated by four categories based on need.

The largest—$5.9 billion—would provide funds for cities with existing subway or fixed-rail systems or those under construction. Nine cities now are eligible: Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, New York, Philadelphia, San Francisco, Atlanta, Baltimore and Pittsburgh.

Ford Will Sign Education Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford plans to sign today a $25 billion education bill extending Great Society school aid programs and imposing new busing curbs.

★ ★

Ford scheduled a trip across town today for a public ceremony at the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

In what was reviewed as a peace-making gesture, major education organizations were invited to witness the bill signing. Many had battled with former President Richard M. Nixon over his not infrequent vetoes of education money bills.

Ford, who has labeled inflation "public enemy No. 1," already has warned Congress against spending at levels authorized in the new bill through 1978.

But he told a joint session of Congress on Aug. 12 that his reservations about the measure "fade in comparison to the urgent needs of America for quality education."

In implementing its provisions, however, Ford said he will "oppose excessive funding during this inflationary crisis." The bill authorizes $7.2 billion next year alone.

A compromise between the House and Senate versions prohibits federal courts from ordering the busing of a child beyond the closest or next-closest school to achieve desegregation, unless necessary to protect the constitutional rights of minority children.

A House provision requiring courts to reopen desegregation cases which called for longer bus rides was dropped.

Fashioned during two years of tough wrangling in Congress, the bill builds upon the 1965 Elementary and Secondary Education Act which pumped billions of federal dollars into schools across the country to help poor and black kids catch up in the classroom.

Hope in Sight on Consumer Bill

WASHINGTON (U P I) — Backers of the proposed consumer protection agency believe they may finally have victory in sight despite another refusal by the Senate to pull legislation out from under a filibuster.

Compromises on farm, labor and other issues plus the closeness of the latest vote to cut off debate —it lost by four votes —prompted Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield to allow backers of the bill a fourth try to end the filibuster on or about Sept. 18.

"The bill will pass in September," predicted Ralph Nader. "The task would be facilitated if consumers all over America asked their senators to support this antibureaucratic, anti-inflation consumer advocacy bill. It needs the active support of all consumers."

Nader's lobbyists were pleased with the way things went Tuesday and said the compromise legislation as set up by Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., was acceptable to them. The changes basically provide language that has passed the House and would specifically protect farmers from unwarranted interference.

Sens. James B. Allen, D-Ala., Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., James L. Buckley, R-N.Y., and other opponents said the compromise is practically a new piece of legislation that is still a bureaucratic disaster requiring renewed Senate consideration before it comes up for a vote.

The concept is for an agency with a staff of about 250 which would go to bat for the consumer when other government agencies such as the Food and Drug Administration or the Transportation Department make decisions involving health, safety, pocketbook issues and the like.

White House Pledge . . . No Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford has pledged not to seek wage-price controls, saying recent experience makes it clear that compulsory controls would be most undesirable.

He made the statement on Tuesday as Congress was completing action on his request for legislation to re-establish a wage and price monitoring agency. The new agency would depend on investigation and disclosure of increases that threaten to feed inflation. It would have no authority to impose controls.

"I will do my best to see that the new price and wage monitoring agency works effectively to combat inflation," Ford said.

"There will be no mandatory wage and price controls."

The President added that he wanted to get this message to labor and business leaders so they can act accordingly.

Pension Outlook Is Good

WASHINGTON (AP) — Early enactment seems assured for a bill designed to protect workers' pension rights.

The House passed the compromise measure Tuesday with only two dissenting votes.

In the Senate, where a vote is scheduled for late today, one of the sponsors, Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., said he knows of no opposition. Republicans predicted that President Ford will sign the measure promptly.

The bill would assure workers they will get benefits based on credits they have built up during their employment, even if they leave their employers before normal retirement time. It contains safeguards against pension plans lacking the funds to pay off.
